TAFT WEAKER IN STRUGGLE TO KEEP LIFE

Only Question of How Long
Vitality Can Withstand
Approaching Death

NO DECIDED CHANGE Famous Taft Smile Flickers Over Face as Doctor Enters Chamber

Washington—(AP)—The life of William Howard Taft slowly was ebbing away today but a flicker of the nationally-known smile lingered still on his face and worn countenance.

His condition shortly before noon was reported by his physicians as "slightly weaker" and it was only a question of how long his vitality could hold out against the inevitable end.

The former president and chief justice was said to be able to take but "very little nourishment," yet his doctors could see no decided change in the last 24 hours.

After a noon visit, Dr. Francis Hagner, who has been in constant attendance, said when he entered the room Mr. Taft had recognized him and that the famous Taft smile had enveloped the features. He was, however, unable to speak.

Outside the big house on Wyoming-ave all was quiet save for frequent calls from friends and diplomats for foreign powers came to pay the respects of their nations to a great American.

Two of the first to visit the home, bathed in a bright sunshine that embodied a touch of spring, were Paul Claudel, the ambassador of France, and an attaché of the British embassy who acted as representative of the British empire in the absence from Washington of an ambassador of that nation.

A policeman paced slowly back and forth in front of the mansion to make sure the last hours of the ill man were undisturbed by noise or confusion.

CHILDREN PRESENT Robert A. Taft, a son of the former president, arrived from Cincinnati at 11:53 a. m. Another son was reported en route to the city. Mrs. Helen Manning has been at the bedside for sometime.

Two of the callers today were Justices Stone and Sanford of the supreme court, who until a month ago served under Mr. Taft as chief justice. Mr. Stone lived near the Taft home. He visited the residence several times and finally left his secretary to obtain the physicians' bulletin and advise him immediately. The bulletin was issued at 11:40 a. m. It read:

"The former chief justice is slightly weaker. He is able to take very little nourishment. There is no decided change in his condition since yesterday."

HUNT AUTO CARRYING COUNTERFEIT MONEY

Racine—(AP)—Four motorcycle police today scoured highways west of here in an attempt to apprehend an automobile from Chicago said to be carrying a cargo of counterfeit money to Minneapolis.

The car was said to carry more than $20,000 in spurious bills. Federal authorities said a ring of counterfeiters had been running bogus bills from Chicago to Minneapolis regularly and disposing of them there.

The car, officers at Racine said, left Chicago about 10 o'clock a. m. Officials in other counties were notified and are on the lookout for the automobile, a large sedan.

Snook Calm In Awaiting Death chair

Columbus—(AP)—Dr. James Howard Snook, the 50-year-old former Ohio university professor who is to die tonight in the electric chair for the murder last June 12 of Miss Theora Hix, a student, will eat his last meal with Mrs. Snook, Warden P. E. Thomas announced today.

Warden Thomas granted the request after a conference with Mrs. Snook, the Rev. Isaac E. Miller, pastor of the King-ave M. E. church and Mrs. Thomas, the warden's wife.

Dr. and Mrs. Snook will eat a chicken dinner between 5 and 6 o'clock today and within two hours the former professor of veterinary medicine will be led into the death chamber.

Mrs. Thomas, who always prepared the last meal for the condemned prisoners which they ordered themselves, will serve a chicken dinner.

It is probable that Dr. Snook will eat his last meal in a Tuxedo, Warden Thomas said. The warden told newspapermen that Mrs. Snook had asked permission to bring the garments to the prison when she arrives for the dinner.

Only close relatives were permitted to see Dr. Snook today. Warden Thomas explained that Mrs. Snook had requested that none be permitted in the death row because "Dr. Snook is hearing up so well."

Mrs. Snook arrived at the prison shortly after 9 a. m. They found the former professor still sleeping but he was immediately aroused and talked more than an hour with her.

According to present plans of prison officials Dr. Snook will be removed to the little cell adjoining the death room about 4 o'clock p. m. and in this enclosure the last meal will be served.

It is only a few steps from the little death cell to the electric chair. Dr. Snook probably will start the death march under two guards, shortly after 7 o'clock p. m. Warden Thomas has refused to announce the exact time for the execution but it was indicated that it would come at the regular time, between 7 and 8 o'clock tonight.

Prison guards said that Dr. Snook was composed on rising today and smiled when talking to Mrs. Snook through the bars of the cell.

CHARGE 8 BROKE ELECTION LAWS

Texas Democratic Political Leaders Indicted by Federal Grand Jury

Houston, Texas—(AP)—Eight Hidalgo county Democrats, A. T. Baker, Democratic political leader in the lower Rio Grande valley, today indicted today by a federal grand jury for violation of the national election laws.

The indictments, returned yesterday after four days investigation into the Hidalgo county general election of 1928, charged "conspiracy to injure persons in the exercise of civil rights." The grand jury was presented charges brought by "Independent Republicans," of Hidalgo county that voting officers without grounds threw out the returns of the Walter election box and that this action elevated the Baker regime from defeat.

Besides Baker, who is known as the "millionaire sheriff" of Hidalgo county, those indicted were: County Judge A. W. Cameron; William D. Chaddick and Sam M. Hargrove, county commissioners; Marvin Evans, former county commissioner; C. E. Hill, county clerk; Tom J. Buckover, election judge; and Edwin B. Williams, election clerk.

The Democratic chairman kept to his hotel last night while the grand jury report was being made and the eight planned to make bond of $1,000 each, today.

TARDIEU CONTINUES CANVAS OF LEADERS

Paris—(AP)—Andre Tardieu formally assumed President Doumergue this afternoon that he would form a cabinet.

Paris—(AP)—Andre Tardieu, premier-designate, again this morning sought the advice of the veteran French statesman, Raymond Poincare, as to how to proceed in formation of a government to succeed the two-his own and that of Camille Chautemps—which have been defeated in the chamber.

It was believed M. Poincare told him to proceed with his slow methodical canvas of the various party leaders and their subordinates. A policy which thus far has resulted probably in his conferring with 50 or more deputies and senators. Twelve or fifteen called for consultation today.

RETURN OPEN VERDICTS IN TRAIN WRECK

Coroner's Jury Fails to Fix
Blame—State and City
Rulings Still Wait

Kenosha—(AP)—Following a conference with the district attorney, Coroner A. B. Schmitz today announced that the inquest into deaths of those killed in the North Shore wreck Sunday will not be reopened.

They discussed re-opening the inquest in view of the death last night of a twelfth victim of the accident, but decided that no additional testimony to that taken in the first instance would be available.

Affidavits of Richard Durr, conductor and William B. Hall, motor-man on the passenger train that tangled with a freight train after an automobile ran between them, will be added to the testimony before the verdict is completed. It remains an "open verdict" following the closing of the inquest last night.

Kenosha—(AP)—With state and city today rested the responsibility of fixing blame in the North Shore line wreck at Kenosha Sunday night.

A coroner's jury declined to decide last night, returning open verdicts after hearing testimony which tended to divide culpability between the railroad company and Norman Shinn, Milwaukee youth whose car was involved in the crash.

While the jury was being given widely differing versions of the wreck, the twelfth victim died in a Kenosha hospital. He was Harold Casey Milwaukee, a passenger.

In view of Coroner A. B. Schmitz's announcement that "the investigation is closed as far as the county is concerned," his death is not expected to cause a re-opening of the inquiry. The state railroad commission now is conducting its own investigation, but no action has been taken by the city.

Two witnesses gave testimony before the jury yesterday which was taken to indicate that the train was going faster than the 30 miles an hour allowed by state law when it reached the crossing. Two others said that a warning signal was in operation and that Shinn's car had seen both the passenger train and the freight into which it caromed, had he taken the time to look. Testimony also revealed that Shinn was sober when he left Racine on the trip home. He was killed, as was Norman Tomczak, Milwaukee, a companion. All the other dead were passengers on the train.

REPORT ON SPEED

Robert Hickey, a collector on the third car of the passenger train, said that the night of the accident the southbound train had covered the 1.2 miles distance between Racine and the crossing where Shinn was struck in approximately six minutes.

About 500 feet before the crossing was reached, the power was shut off, he said. Virgil Kindel, collector on the fourth car, estimated the time at about seven minutes and said the brakes were applied about 200 feet from the crossing. Either estimate would make the speed more than 30 miles an hour.

Harry E. Norris, a motorman on the North Shore for almost 14 years, and in charge of the freight train on a parallel track, said that he saw the warning signal at the crossing in operation, saw a machine parked east of the tracks and Shinn's car speeding around it. At the same time, he saw the passenger train, he put on his brakes. The auto cleared him by about five feet, he said, apparently going at a speed of 40 miles an hour. It was hit squarely by the passenger, which then derailed after hurtling against freight cars to the rear of his train.

Algot Lindquist, who had parked his machine 45 feet back of the crossing, said that in approaching he had clear visibility both ways and could plainly see the approaching trains.

FISH OPPOSES AMERICAN RECOGNITION OF RUSSIA

DE PERE AND OSHKOSH MEN NABBED IN RAIDS

Milwaukee—(AP)—Seven Oshkosh and De Pere men were arrested by Milwaukee federal prohibition agents and whisky, gin and beer were destroyed in three saloons there yesterday.

Those arrested are: Joseph Wilemski and Henry Busch, operators; and Theodore Miller, bartender, Oshkosh; Lynas Golden, proprietor; James Berg, bartender, and Henry and Herbert Hendricks, joint operators, all of De Pere.

Pope urged that the prime minister should allow the United States to handle her own business and Canada to do likewise. He would be strongly opposed to any such legislation.

COMMISSION BACKS REFEREE'S ACTION IN MIAMI BATTLE

Miami, Fla.—(AP)—Lou Magnolia's action in declaring Jack Sharkey the winner and refusing to allow Phil Scott's claim of foul in last night's fight was formerly upheld today by the Miami Boxing commission.

Official figures announced today placed the paid attendance at the fight at 15,000, the gross receipts at $190,000 and the net "gate" at only $161,000 after deduction of tax.

The loss to the Madison Square Garden corporation was estimated at $50,000 but run as high as $75,000. Sharkey, received 25 per cent, drew $40,000 for his share as compared with $100,000 he received for his victory over Young Stribling a year ago. Scott, getting 20 per cent, drew $32,000. The guarantees to preliminary boxers totaled $52,000, with $10,000 each going to the semi-finalists Johnny Risko and Vittorio Campolo.

Brookhart Airs Feud With Steck

Washington—(AP)—Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, in a statement issued outside the senate chamber today, related the history of his long-standing feud with Senator Steck, Democrat, Iowa, and characterized his colleague as "cheap and worthless."

The statement also was directed against Hanford MacNider, of Mason City, Iowa, who Brookhart said led Steck's successful campaign before the senate elections committee in the 1924 elections contest between Steck and Brookhart. MacNider is now trying to fill Steck's seat "with a Republican," Brookhart said.

"Even if you select the man Dictator MacNider wants," the statement continued, "I will say to you that he will not be as worthless as the one he has there now."

Brookhart denied he had refused to speak to Steck, and said that after the election he had "treated him as a man and a gentleman," but that Steck had publicly accused him of being in Washington as "a paid lobbyist in violation of the law."

These charges had later been shown false by a senate committee, he said, adding:

"Nevertheless Steck never did apologize for his false charges, never did correct his libelous statements in the record, and has not spoken to me since. This has not been the slightest inconvenience to me."

Canada May Refuse Papers To Rum Ships Going To U.S.

Ottawa Ont.—(AP)—Legislation to refuse clearances to vessels carrying liquor to the United States is expected to be introduced in the house of commons shortly.

In the corridors of parliament members were to be seen gathered in little groups intensely discussing this problem.

"I would like to know," Senator R. H. Pope asked in addressing himself to Senator Raoul Dandurand, government leader, "whether the prime minister has given assurance to any person to the effect that the government would submit a measure to parliament for the purpose of prohibiting the export of spirituous liquor from Canada to the United States?"

Pope urged that the prime minister should allow the United States to handle her own business and Canada to do likewise. He would be strongly opposed to any such legislation.

DUTY ON OIL DEBATED IN UPPER HOUSE

Oklahoma Senator Claims
Industry in America Is in
"Extreme Distress"

Washington—(AP)—While its lobby investigating committee was developing that independent oil producers on this subject, the senate began debate today on a proposal of Senator Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma, for a duty of one dollar per barrel on crude oil and 50 cents on petroleum by-products.

Oil, now on the free list, had been mentioned in reports that a new coalition had been formed to put through rates on this product and lumber and a higher tariff amendment was defeated by a margin of five votes last night. Sugar will not come up before next week.

Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, announced in the senate at the outset today that he would seek another vote later on his lumber duty proposal.

Opening debate, Senator Thomas said the oil industry was in "extreme distress" with price cuts occurring frequently and plans being made for further curtailment of production.

The issue, he argued, was between the independents and a "handful of powerful producers including the Standard group, the Gulf and the Royal Dutch Shell."

RAPS COMMITTEE

Thomas said chairman Smoot of the finance committee might as well have called W. C. Teague of the Standard Oil of New Jersey; John D. Rockefeller and Secretary Mellon instead of appointing Senators Reed, Pennsylvania and Edge, New Jersey, Republicans, and King, Democrat, Utah, as a sub-committee to hear evidence on an oil tariff.

Now an ambassador, he added, that Edge was a former counsel for the Mellon Gulf interests.

Senator Smoot interrupted at this point to say "there was no trickery or underhanded work" in appointing the sub-committee.

The trouble with oil industry of America was not over production but over importation, Thomas contended.

"If the American market is given to the American producer," he continued, "there would be no surplus."

The Oklahoma senator listed domestic production at 500,000,000 barrels a year and imports at 100,000,000 barrels. He said Venezuela oil could be laid down in Atlantic seaboard cities at 75 cents a barrel while the domestic oil sold for $1.07.

He declared the Shell interests could produce gasoline from its Venezuelan oil at 3 cents a gallon.

ENGINEER ACCUSED IN MOORMEISTER MURDER

Salt Lake City—(AP)—Charles Peter, Salt Lake City mining promoter, accused from the witness stand at the inquest into the death of Mrs. Dorothy Mooremeister, 32, of persading the slain woman to divorce her husband and attempt to get $50,000, was expected to take the stand today upon resumption of the inquest.

The body of Mrs. Mooremeister was found last Saturday morning on a lonely road near here. There was evidence that the slayer had driven the woman's own automobile back and forth over the body badly mangled it.

Numerous charges were hurled at Peter yesterday by Miss Amelia Huzenbichler, 22, sister and co-defendant of the slain woman. Miss Huzenbichler testified that her sister was seized and compelled of a new $10,000 bond for a whole day after she had been out with Peter a week before the murder. She said Mrs. Mooremeister told her she believed the had been "killed."

FILMLAND PAYS FINAL TRIBUTE TO ACTRESS

Los Angeles—(AP)—Filmland's assembly today to pay their final tribute to Mabel Normand, comedienne, whose often scorned impersonations endeared her in the hearts of motion picture fans throughout the world. Mrs. Normand died Sunday at a long fight against tuberculosis. The body will be placed in a crypt in Calvary cemetery here.

Low Coyle, husband of Mrs. Normand, announced that her body would be cremated and such a law would be impossible of enforcement. The United States had never shown such tender sympathy for Canada. The dominion should not penalize a legitimate business here to enforce a law in the United States.

"The prime minister," Senator Dandurand replied, "records as strictly confidential many of the self-different persons on the subject of liquor clearances and is not prepared to disclose any reply to the inquiry as made."

For three hours Liberal members and senators devoted their entire time in caucus to a discussion of the subject. Opposition to the proposed legislation is reported, came from Ontario and Quebec members, but with the majority opinion, on the whole, in favor of refusal of clearances. Strict reticence prevailed after the government caucus.

Reciprocal Tax Exemption Plan Offered By Mellon

Two Lines of International Approach Suggested by Secretary

Washington—(AP)—Reciprocal exemption as the best method of avoiding the taxation of the same income, profits or property by this and one or more other countries was advocated before the house ways and means committee today by Secretary Mellon.

Appearing at a hearing on Chairman Hawley's bill to reduce international double taxation, in which have been incorporated his recommendations as to the manner in which this government could participate in a world-wide effort to solve this problem, Mellon said there were two lines of approach.

The first method, by treaty with one or more countries, which involve mutual concessions in respect of the taxation of nationals of the treaty-making countries. He gave as objections to this plan that the concessions were more likely to be based on bargaining than on sound principals of taxation, and that this method resulted in the taxation by the United States of the nationals of different countries of dissimilar bases.

The second plan, he explained, was exemplified by the present law covering the taxation of shipping profits and authorizing the exemption of foreign shipping profits providing those of American companies are exempt from taxation in foreign countries.

"While there are some obvious advantages in the treaty method," he said, "the treasury department believes that what I may call the reciprocal exemption method is the sounder of the two and more in accordance with traditional American policy."

The reciprocal exemption of the items of income considered should not mean a sacrifice of tax revenues by the United States, he said, but an eventual gain. He explained, also, the workings of various other provisions of the plan, and said an increase in revenues should result in other ways.

The secretary said the machinery for putting the plan into effect was simple, consisting of extending the application of the principle of reciprocal exemption now observed in the case of shipping profits to dividends, interest and other items of income, affected.

"It is hoped," he concluded, "that other countries may meet this offer of reciprocal exemption by means of corresponding enactments, just as has been done in the case of shipping profit."

PILOT BELIEVES PLANE SHOT DOWN BY RUSTLERS

Walsenburg, Colo.—(AP)—The theory of a pilot that his plane was crippled by shots fired at it by cattle rustlers caused an investigation today into an airplane crash that brought death to a high school girl and serious injuries to another on isolated Mosca Pass yesterday.

Miss Elsie Noble, 16, a student at Centennial high school, Pueblo, was killed and Miss Abba Tallow, 15, also a student at the school, seriously injured. Harry Miller, the pilot of the plane which was owned by the Alamosa Airways, Inc., suffered slight injuries.

Sherriff Harry J. Capus of Huerfano, will head a posse to the scene of the crash to investigate the theory given by Miller, who told authorities that he felt two shots hit the plane after which an aileron refused to function. The plane became unmanageable, he said, and crashed. Just before the accident, he said, he looked down to see two horsemen racing away into the hills. Authorities said cattle rustlers have been active in the vicinity of the fatal accident, and that the plane might have been fired upon by rustlers who thought it contained men spying on them.

SUB INVENTOR WANTS TO HUNT TREASURE

Bridgeport, Conn.—(AP)—Captain Simon Lake, submarine inventor of Milford, was awaiting word today from the treasury department in connection with his application for a permit to search for sunken treasure in the waters of Long Island sound.

His request has been forwarded to Representative John Q. Tilson, house floor leader, who in turn presented the matter to the treasury department.

Captain Lake plans to use the submarine in his search for millions in gold which was lost when an eighteenth century British ship foundered on the rocks near New York City.

Years ago, the inventor said, a contract to search for the treasure was awarded to George Thomas of Orange, N. J., who spent thousands of dollars in a fruitless search.

The defender of his specialty said that the permit to search for the treasure was given to work with short on lines, using the submarine as a base of operations, Captain Lake said.

MILWAUKEE ROAD TO SPEND 28 MILLION

Milwaukee—(AP)—Pres. H. A. Sanford of the Milwaukee road, announced today the railroad will spend about $28,000,000 for improvements in 1930.

The company will build a new dock and warehouse at Green Bay costing $2,000,000. About $1,500,000 will be expended, he said, for grade separation in Milwaukee and for changes in the Muskego yard and for completion of a new freight shop at West Milwaukee. It will spend $200,000 for elimination of grade crossings and $120,000 for crossing guards.

CLAIMS FATHER-IN-LAW TOOK BACK GIFTS TO SON

Milwaukee—(AP)—A. J. McCormick, wealthy Oshkosh lumberman, must defend himself in April against a charge that he was an "Indian giver" who had taken back bonds presented by his son, after the youth was killed in an airplane crash here.

Mrs. Ina Taylor McCormick, widow of the man killed, is the plaintiff. She seeks return of approximately $150,000 in bonds and debentures, and 6 1/2 acres of land, all which the father took from a deposit box before his death after his son was killed. The case will be heard April 7.

SENATOR SAYS REDUCTION IS NOT POSSIBLE

McKellar Starts First Debate
on Parley Since Session
Was Started

McDONALD IS UPHOLD
Small Group of Liberals
Save Premier's Regime
at Critical Time

Washington—(AP)—The recall of the American delegation from the London naval arms conference was proposed in the senate today by Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, who asserted that there was no opportunity for naval reductions.

The Tennessee senator insisted that "in the present state of mind of the conferees representing the other four powers, it is clear there is no possibility of disarmament nor of a reduction of armaments, or even a limitation of armaments."

McKellar's suggestion started the first debate in the senate on the London conference since it convened early in January.

Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, replied, saying:

"I sympathize with a great many things the senator from Tennessee has said but I believe he has given a premature American pronouncement based upon inadequate and insufficient information. Such contributions of advice to our delegates abroad do far more harm than good."

THREAT IS AVERTED London—(AP)—The immediate threat of fall of the British government removed, the five power naval conference today somewhat easier to day. Pending return of a French delegation which will permit fuller negotiations, attention was centered on conversations between the American and Japanese delegations.

A handful of Liberals staved off defeat of the MacDonald ministry in the commons on the second reading of the coal mine bill by voting with the government. Four Liberals voted for the bill and eight others abstained. The government won by a scant margin of nine votes, 230 to 221.

British politicians shunted interest in the naval conference in the excitement of the moment. Just as in France, the conference almost disappeared from view in the confusion incident to the ministerial crisis. A defeat of the British government would have been a blow far greater than the government defeats in France, since under the British system resignation of the ministry, dissolution of parliament and a new general election — a matter of six weeks — probably would have been involved.

The government is not safely past threat of defeat on the measure since the bill, which was passed on second reading, still must go through report stage and a third reading. Immediate further consideration was adjourned on motion of Mr. MacDonald who said that William Graham, president of the board of trade, author of the measure, had collapsed overnight shortly after the house division.

The Labor vote of 230 in the division on the bill was made up of 270 Labor members, four Liberals, four Independents and two Irish national allies.

The opposition vote of 221 included 225 Conservatives, 42 Liberals and one Independent. On the first reading of the measure the government's victory was only eight votes. Both readings concerning the most serious obstacles the government has had as yet to overcome.

EXPERT AGREEMENT

In circles close to the naval conference there were unverified reports that the big cruiser ratio between Japan and the United States was under discussion in the conversations between the two delegations and that an early agreement was probable.

Much significance was attached to the three-cornered conferences held yesterday. The greatest secrecy was maintained. The Japanese refusing to talk and the Americans parrying direct questions. It was intimated, however, that further conversations were expected.

Yesterday's conversations began when Senator Reed called on Ambassador Matsumura at the Japanese embassy and spent nearly an hour there. Senator Reed, who Colonel Stimson then visited the house of commons to confer with Mr. MacDonald. Later he again visited Mr. Matsumura, who in the meantime had conferred with his own delegation.

The status of the American-Japanese issue has been that America of late has Japan a 60 per cent cruiser ratio to Japan's demand of a 70 per cent ratio. Japan has remained adamant at her figure and it was believed consequently that the next proposal must come from America. Some naval men close to the conference deduced that Senator Reed had presented some counter-proposals.

Death To The King," Thousands Shout At Madrid

POLICE FIGHT THROUGHS, TEN ARE ARRESTED

Former Premier Declares "I Will Never Again Serve Present King"

Madrid — (P)—The declaration of former Premier Sanchez Guerra yesterday that there is a movement for republic in Spain—stronger than ever before—and that he could no longer support the present monarch has created the most intense excitement and discussion in political circles as to what effect it will have on the present government.

When several minor riots broke out immediately after Sanchez Guerra's sensational speech which was made late last night and early this morning with red banners and shouting demonstrations, the government announced it would ban future political discourses because it believed the present policy of freedom of political speech was under present conditions.

Madrid — (P)—Metropolitan Spain was swept by a tide of republican sentiment after a public demonstration by Jose Antonio Sanchez Guerra, former premier and enemy of the late dictatorship, which he said: "I will never again serve the present king."

Thousands gathered in the streets of Madrid, and fought with police who attempted to bring down their banners and crush their shouts "down with the king" and "death to the king." Ten civilians were arrested and one man was injured seriously in a clash outside the theatre in which the former premier's speech was delivered.

General Damazo Berenguer, the Spanish premier, announced that he would not allow any public political speeches would be prohibited. Many of the most prominent leaders of all parties had been making preparations for public pronouncements; but his decision apparently ends their hopes.

Sanchez Guerra's speech had been widely heralded inasmuch as he probably is Spain's most venerated statesman. Republicans believe he would espouse their cause, giving it a considerable impetus. The theatre was packed and 2,000 stood outside. The statesman was applauded for several minutes when he ascended the rostrum.

To the staunchest of the republicans the speech which followed was disappointing. The former premier did not say he hoped for a republic. He did say that the movement for a republic in Spain was stronger than ever and that the country soon might adopt that form of government.

IS NOT REPUBLICAN
He denied that he had become a republican personally, and then in a peroration declared: "I shall end the words of the duke of Andalus, chief of a palace of the emperor Charles V, who when the oppressor Isabella died, said: 'I shall never more serve those whom the forms can eat.'"

His words brought a thunder of applause, not unminged with cries of another temper. Outside the crowd accepted his speech as a pronouncement for a republic and when he left the building he was greeted enthusiastically.

SHOULD COURT GIVE ITS O. K. ON PLEA TO CHANGE NAME?

Chicago — (P)—The man's name was Wladyslaw Szczepaniewicz. Mr. Szczepaniewicz said in superior court yesterday he was an American citizen and yearned to have people, greeting him, say, "how do you do, Mr. Szczepaniewicz? How are you today, Mr. Szczepaniewicz?" But it was out of the question. He petitioned to have it changed from Wladyslaw Szczepaniewicz to Walker Shep.

A son, Wladyslaw Szczepaniewicz, also wants to be known hereafter as plain Matthew Shep. If the court agrees to substitute Shep for Szczepaniewicz, it is not unlikely the typographical union will offer a rising vote of thanks.

Lawrence's 'Best-Loved' Coeds

Here are the four girls named by popular vote of Lawrence co-eds as "best loved." They are Eleanor Lea, Elgin, Ill., upper left, Helen Bergman, South Milwaukee, upper right, Helen Jones, Menasha, lower left, and Gertrude Carbaugh, Elgin, Ill. The four best loved girls were honored at a formal banquet held at Hotel Conway last week.

Interest In Archery Being Revived At "Y"

Robin Hood had nothing on the expert "bow twangers" of the Y. M. C. A. Archery club, which has been staging weekly shoots on the new range in the association gymnasium. Several members have made excellent scores, shooting as high as 502 to 510 points in one evening.

The new club has grown in membership, and at present is composed of 10 business men. The organization was founded about three years ago by Harold Heller and A. P. Jensen, physical director of the association, and since that time interest in archery has been revived.

During the past winter, and until the close of the hunting season, several members of the club considered themselves good enough archers to try their luck at rabbit shooting. Many rabbits were brought down on some of the hunting expeditions in nearby woods and swamps.

It is expected that as interest in the club increases, better equipment will be added. At present the range is but 70 feet long, while the regulation size calls for a 30 yard range, according to Mr. Jensen.

FRUIT, VEGETABLE PRICES UNCHANGED DURING PAST WEEK

Many New Products Make Appearance on Local Stands This Weekend

Prices of fresh fruits and vegetables were not much affected by the change in weather during the past week, and are about the same as they have been during the past two weeks. Several new products have found their way to local stands and will be available to housewives this weekend, according to dealers.

The vegetable market is quoted as follows: Green beans, 35 cents a pound; new carrots, 10 cents a bunch; new beets, 10 to 15 cents a bunch; celery, 15 to 20 cents a bunch; head lettuce, 10 to 20 cents a head; radishes, 10 to 15 cents a bunch, and green onions, 15 cents a bunch.

Spinach is selling at prices ranging from 15 to 20 cents a pound; cucumbers, 20 to 30 cents each; new cabbage, 10 cents a pound; tomatoes, 35 cents a pound; turnips, 15 cents a pound; green peppers, 15 cents each; cauliflower, 25 to 35 cents a head; garlic, 35 cents a pound; parsley, 10 cents a bunch; Spanish onions, 15 cents a pound.

WORLD DEEP UNDER EARTH IS EXPLORED

Huge Subterranean Cavern Surrounded by Fantastic Creations

Carlsbad, N. M. — (P) — Frank Ernest Nicholson, explorer, has seen a new underground world. Surrounded by fantastic creations of cave marble and flowstone, perhaps unseen by man previously during the million or more years of their formation, and perhaps never before touched by light, Nicholson penetrated a previously unexplored room of the Carlsbad cavern.

It was the first bit of exploring of unknown places of the underground labyrinth to be done by this New York explorer, financed by the New York Times, who with his party of 11 assistants, hopes to find the end of the cavern.

"It seems that every step brings a new revelation," Nicholson said here today, "and man feels himself to be an infinitesimal being in these vast underground voids of blackness, surrounded by gigantic rocks and limestone creations."

The room is something over two miles underground from the entrance. A tunnel branches off to the right from the main corridor shortly before the "big room" is reached. This tunnel leads to the gorgeously arrayed "King's Palace," from which branches to the right the "Green Room" and to the left the "Queen's Room."

HERE'S BIG ROOM
He has visited most of the 23 miles of known parts of the cavern which includes the "big room," in which a 15-story office building could be built without touching the ceiling to familiarize himself with the work done by previous exploring parties.

The party on an expedition, however, has not started concentrated work. The cave is a major consideration with Nicholson in mapping out a program for directing his party. He will enter no tunnels whose ends are known, but will confine himself to unexplored places with distinct air currents and follow those rooms and tunnels is possible, to their ends.

The first explorers of the present known portion of the cavern had their thrills. There is a 170-foot drop into inky blackness from the mouth of the cave to the first level. Jim White and other early cowboy explorers made this original descent on a rope, wondering when they would reach bottom.

The next mode of descent was an iron bucket which held two persons, and which was lowered and raised by cable and windlass, with power from a gasoline engine on the surface.

When Millionaire Goes To Jail, It's Different

BY A FELLOW PRISONER (Copyright, 1930, NEA Service, Inc.)

Preposterous as the idea sounds, there came in time to be built up, in the District of Columbia jail, while Harry F. Sinclair was confined there, a group of other prisoners who were known as "Sinclair's attendants."

Sinclair certainly did not lack special services. When he entered the jail he was allowed to take with him a huge roll of bills and he made the most of it.

Two of "Sinclair's attendants" were, respectively, a forger and an automobile thief. They took his dictation in response to his heavy "fan mail." A third prisoner acted as his valet, polishing his shoes daily and keeping his clothes in order. Then, as has been mentioned, there were those who looked after his culinary wants.

As a valet, Sinclair had the services of none other than Herbert Hoover! But this Herbert Hoover was an amiable colored man who was doing time for tampering with a safe. Hoover's satisfaction in his assignment showed itself in a perpetual grin.

Among the group of colored trustees who came in contact with the multimillionaire prisoner daily, there was a good deal of rivalry concerning priority in the right to attend him.

They calculated their position in line according to the day they had entered jail, figuring it right down to the hour and minute.

"I came in Tuesday at 11:30 a. m., and you didn't get in until afternoon," one would tell another. So he would take his place in line ahead of the other.

Those who had the chance to serve Sinclair made extra efforts to do a good job, while the ordinary prisoner, possessed of neither funds nor distinction, would have difficulty in getting the orderlies or attendants to grant the slightest favor.

In addition to his "prison help," Sinclair's personal secretary was permitted to enter the jail every day and spend an hour or two taking his business correspondence and writing personal letters.

People in all parts of the country—perfect strangers—wrote to Sinclair. Some of them commiserated him on his incarceration, and others taunted him.

He rather resented the attitude of sympathy expressed in his friends' letters. His attitude was, "Of course they're sorry I'm in here. Why shouldn't they be?"

He never got over the idea that his being sent to jail was a great injustice. But he wasn't a bad sport, and he kept his sense of humor. One letter from an intimate friend that made him laugh heartily was something like this:

"Dear Harry: 'I am writing you aboard my new special car. We (naming some mutual friends) have just pulled out of Frisco for a trip across the continent. Oscar, my very capable chef, has just served us a most delicious dinner of squabs on toast. We are just now sitting down for a few hours of bridge."

"How are things with you?" Of course, Sinclair's mail wasn't censored at the jail office, as was the mail of the ordinary prisoners. In the first place, it was so voluminous that censoring it would have been almost a physical impossibility, with the staff at hand. In the second place since he was one of the prisoners who held an office job he wasn't required to come under this restriction. Major Peak, the warden, held that office men's mail needn't be sent back to a cell if he couldn't be trusted with his own mail.

So, in the matter of his mail, Sinclair wasn't enjoying so much more than any man might have had. He was getting away with rather more in regard to visitors.

Jail rules are strict. A man can receive visitors once a week—from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m., and from 1:30 to 4 p. m., on Tuesday for white inmates and on Friday for colored inmates. No visitor is allowed to stay more than 15 minutes. Trustees or office men are permitted to receive their visitors in the outer office for one hour on Sunday evenings. Ordinary prisoners talk to their visitors through the screen on the visitation floor, in the recesses of a guard.

Sinclair had visitors at all times. Lawyers, business associates and friends were let in to see him constantly, some of them staying as late as midnight, talking to him in his private room.

"Now I'm not complaining about all of this. I know Sinclair was a big business man, and that his affairs probably were of such scope that it was necessary for his associates to get in to talk to him more often, and more freely, than ordinary jail rules allowed. I'm not telling this with the idea that Sinclair ought to have been held right down to the rules that bound the rest of us. I'm simply telling what I saw—telling how the treatment that fifty million dollars gets, when in jail, differ from the treatment that the ordinary man gets when he goes to jail."

For all his special privileges, though, Sinclair wasn't really unpopular with the other inmates. He was a pretty "good fellow" from the inmates' point of view. Tomorrow I'll tell you some of the things he did.

START PLANS FOR SENDING LAWRENCE PUPIL TO EUROPE

Annual Project Will Be Supported by Donations from Faculty and Students

Preparations for the annual "student to Europe" project at Lawrence college got under way this morning in chapel with election of a committee to manage the affair. The Lawrence students voted on 19 candidates to select a committee of seven to be in charge.

The duties of the committee will be three fold. They must first select three Lawrence faculty members to attend the committee meetings in an advisory capacity. When the committee is finally formed they will promote the financial backing for the project and select the student best qualified to represent Lawrence college in foreign schools.

The student selected this year will be the third to be sent by the Lawrence student body. The first was Miss Ellen Tutton, at present personnel officer at Lawrence, and the second was Edward Koch, selected last year and at present studying abroad.

The student sent abroad will spend a year studying in various foreign universities. It is his duty to keep in constant contact with the Lawrence student body through the medium of the Lawrenceian, Lawrence college paper. Following the year abroad, the honored student will spend a final year at Lawrence where he will receive his degree. The project is financed by contributions from both students and faculty.

Professor Agard is a graduate of Amherst with post-graduate degree from Oxford University, England. He also has studied at the Sorbonne, Paris and the American School in Athens, Greece. For a while he taught classics and the fine arts at Amherst college, going from there to St. John's college at Annapolis. His lecture has met with enthusiastic reception at the Maryland Institute and at the Baltimore, Cleveland and Minneapolis museums. His field of art have found friends among many of the leading contemporary sculptors including Bourdelle, Mestrovic and Paul Manship.

Jersey City—After two attempts Mrs. Kate Soder has decided not to try again to make a trip to Europe. A week ago after family goodbyes at the steamer Bremen's pier she embarked explaining she could not leave husband and children. There were goodbyes again as the steamship Berlin was preparing to leave yesterday. Mrs. Soder hurried down the gang plank as the whistle blew.

Here Is First List Of Prize Winners In "On To Washington" Contest

Well, boys and girls of Outagamie county rural schools, here is the first two lists of prize winners in the Post-Crescent's On To Washington contest.

It probably has tried your patience to wait a whole extra week to find out if you were among the lucky ones to receive a shiny half dollar in the Post-Crescent contest but remember the delay was caused by the illness of the man conducting the work.

The first 10 names are those who won prizes the first week and the balance of the names are those who were picked as winners this week.

Remember—originality and practicality were the two prime factors which governed the picking of the winners. Many other students submitted ideas similar to those sent in by some of the prize winners but as several pupils send in the same idea the first one to arrive will receive first consideration. Also when several students submit the same idea the one which tells about the plan in greatest detail will receive first consideration.

The prizes will be sent to the prize winners from the office of A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, who is cooperating in staging the contest. They will be mailed to the prize winners at once.

Now remember, boys and girls, if you were not one of the lucky ones this week—you may be next week—or the week after. The contest will continue to run until next June. Keep on trying. The Post-Crescent is going to give away many more half dollars.

Now, here is the first prize list with the ideas submitted:

Edwin Stern, Hortonville, is earning his commencement trip money by trapping animals and selling the furs.

Miss Janet Riesberg, Medina, is earning money by making aprons and selling them among her neighbors and friends.

Roy Colson, Shiocton, is earning money by selling seeds to people living in his vicinity.

Miss Carmen Elsch, Seymour, is earning money by making artificial flowers and selling them.

John Kavanaugh, Kaukauna, is making money by hunting crows and gophers and collecting the bounty.

Miss Mildred Buss, route 5, Appleton, is planning to earn money by caring for a setting of 150 eggs. She will set the eggs in the incubator, care for the chicks until they are grown and she then receives all the roosters which she will sell and pocket the proceeds. Then hens go to her parents as their part of the "deal."

Louis Welland, route 3, Kaukauna, is earning money by trapping muskrats and other fur animals; and he also is going to hunt blackbirds and collect the bounty.

Miss Sylvia Geniesse, of Country-side school, Black Creek, wins a prize with her suggestion that each school start a bank, with the teacher as banker. Every student could then bring in a small amount each week and thus swell his graduation fund.

Miss Cecilia Pils, Shiocton, submitted the same idea and also wins a prize.

Wayne Kennedy, Shiocton, wins a prize with his suggestion that the graduating class of the school have his picture taken and these pictures should be sold at a little more than cost in the school district.

Noel Kroetz, Dale, wins a prize with his suggestion which he is trying himself. He secured a small pig from his father and when it grows under his care, he will sell it and after paying his father for the original cost he will pocket the profits. Several other students submitted ideas similar to this but Noel was the first to do so and so wins a prize.

Miss Dorothy Vanden Heuvel, Kimberly, is going to earn money for the trip by caring for neighbors children. She, however, receives a prize not because of the originality of this idea but because she was original in saying she was going to make an effort to see that all the neighbors found out she was for hire and wanted to earn money for a special purpose. She will charge fixed rates.

Misses Marguerite Hahn, Nichols, and Miss Mabel La Fortune, Medina, each win a prize for the same suggestion. Their class is making a patchwork quilt together and the quilt later will be sold in the district. The money will go into a joint graduation trip fund.

Grace M. Voight, Shiocton, wins a prize with her suggestion of catching sap from maple trees this spring and boiling it into sugar which will be sold.

Leona Scherning, Shiocton, wins a prize with her suggestion of borrowing the capital to make the trip to Washington and then going to cherry camp at Sturgeon Bay this summer to earn enough to pay off the debt.

Noel Kroetz, Dale, wins a prize with his suggestion which he is trying himself. He secured a small pig from his father and when it grows under his care, he will sell it and after paying his father for the original cost he will pocket the profits. Several other students submitted ideas similar to this but Noel was the first to do so and so wins a prize.

Miss Dorothy Vanden Heuvel, Kimberly, is going to earn money

She, however, receives a prize not because of the originality of this idea but because she was original in saying she was going to make an effort to see that all the neighbors found out she was for hire and wanted to earn money for a special purpose. STATE HAS MOST COWS IN COUNTRY

2,023,000 Head Reported in Wisconsin Last Year; Increase Noted

Wisconsin continues to hold first place in number of dairy cows on farms according to figures of the crop reporting service of the state and United States departments of agriculture. There are 2,023,000 head of two years old or over, an increase of 3 per cent over a year ago. The number is the largest the state has ever had with the exception of 1924 when there were 2,055,000 head. Compared with other states Wisconsin has a lead of more than one-half million dairy cows.

The sale of dairy cattle made the state has been a dependable source of income to dairymen for a number of years. Even back in 1921, 25,000 head were shipped to butchers and producers of other states and countries. The business has grown steadily until the high point was reached.

STUDENTS MAKE SOAP MODELS AS CLASS WORK

Soap models, dolls, ships and the cottage of Miles Standish are included in the projects made by pupils of the TB English class at Wilson Junior high school, taught by Miss Audrey Poole, in connection with the study of "The Courtship of Miles Standish."

The cottage and a miniature ship representing the Mayflower were made by John Doe. Dorothy Smith painted a soap model of John Alden and Elizabeth, and Florence Hob and Walter New dressed dolls to represent Pocahontas.

A doll, teacher of the scene where Miles Standish and Pocahontas were made by John Doe.

The records of 1924 showed a decrease in the shipment of a little over 2 per cent as compared with that of 1923. But as to the sale of dairy cattle made the state has been a dependable source of income to dairymen for a number of years. Even back in 1921, 25,000 head were shipped to butchers and producers of other states and countries. The business has grown steadily until the high point was reached.

City Expenses In 1929 Exceed Estimate By $115,000

City Debt At End Of Year WAS $242,000

Total Expenditures by Council, Library and Park Board Is $760,000

The city of Appleton completed the year 1929 owing banks and individuals a total of $242,000, the auditor found. Total revenues for the year, according to the audit, were $1,081,265.88 and disbursements aggregated $1,323,436.48. The revenues included loans from the bank in 1929, and disbursements included repayment of loans made in 1928.

The city had a total deposit of $91,549.72 in all funds in the bank, the statement showed. Of this sum only $3,555.54 was credited to the general fund and the remainder to funds upon which the city is not at liberty to draw to pay general expenses.

$85,000 FROM WATERWORKS

The largest income item last year was the revenue from the general property tax, amounting to $465,623.83. Revenues from sources other than general property tax and bank loans totaled $310,642.05, of which $107,805.28 was the city's share of the state income tax. Taxes paid by utility aggregating about $20,000, the interest paid by the water department on the city's equity in that utility totaled $52,399.03. The water department also paid $15,339 taxes to the city, making the total general fund revenue from the utility in excess of $68,000.

Disbursements aside from repayment of bank loans and retirement of bonded debt and exclusive of County, state and school levies totaled $758,436, and including payment of $41,000 on the water works and school bonds the city's expenditures were $799,436. This included about $71,900 advanced to the state for completion of the subway and about $27,000 advanced to the county for paving Walter Ave. and Wisconsin-ave, also about $29,000 paid to the waterworks for assessments collected by the city. After these two items were deducted the total expenditures of the city will be approximately $744,000, without counting the payments to the library and park board, enabling the city to reduce its bank loans from $230,000 at the beginning of the year to $210,000 at its close. The total debt of the city at the end of the year, however, including outstanding orders in excess of money to pay them, was approximately $242,000 as compared with approximately $254,000 at the end of 1928.

Considerably more than half of the city's expenses were charged to the departments of highways with $308,000 and the protection of persons and property, aggregating $148,618.

$91,000 FOR STREET REPAIR

Highway department expense include the cost of street maintenance, lighting, cleaning, city's share of paving costs and the city's share of sewer construction.

The largest item was $91,862.04 for street repair and maintenance. This figure does not include the cost of street cleaning, snow removal, new paving, purchase of equipment, bridge repairs, sidewalk repairs or oiling or flushing; there are separate items for those expenses. The entire $91,862.04 was spent for maintaining 73 miles of street.

The city also spent $2,400 for superintending this work of maintenance which is not included in the $91,862.04 total. Street lighting last year cost an additional $62,171; this figure not including the cost of the installing. College-ave ornamental system. Another $6,614 was spent for oiling and flushing streets and $28,365 was expended for street cleaning and snow removal. Street department equipment represented an expenditure of $2,308.26 and an additional $217 was spent last year on the street department building which was completed in 1928. Then the city spent $2,806 for walk repairs, $23,310 for repairs on bridges and $607 for opening streets none of these items are included in the $91,000 for street maintenance.

The city's share of new paving last year amounted to $29,556.77.

Sewer construction last year totaled $32,272, including approximately $50,000 for the interceptor sewer along the north bank of the Fox river. This figure, however, did not include the entire cost of the Brewster-st sewer.

Here are the items as they are listed in Mr. Sleeper's audit of the highway department:

Superintendence	$2,400
Street lighting	$62,171.13
Street flushing	2,964.23
Street oiling	1,691.43
Street cleaning	23,310.00
Street dept. equipment	2,308.26
Street repairs	91,862.04
Walk repairs	2,806.21
Bridges	23,310.49
Sewers	$23,782.72

Expenses of the street department were between $55,000 and $60,000 in excess of the estimates made at the beginning of the year. The total expenses for the streets department, exclusive of sewerage, in the fall of 1929 for the year 1929, was $115,000 which includes $10,000 for attorney's and operating of streets. The total cost of the street department, exclusive of sewers was $227,504.

The Oldtimer Asks...

Do You Remember When— Chicago and St. Louis were in a bitter fight for leadership in population and each was accusing the other of padding their census returns and probably both of them were right?

Minneapolis was "St. Anthony Falls?"

"Modern Classical," "scientific" and other courses were unknown in colleges and every student had to take full course of Greek and Latin to be eligible for a diploma?

Western town lot booming was all the rage and nearly every one had lots in towns they never had seen?

Banks notes were very much like lottery tickets?

Rail road building was the one biggest feat of endeavor for men of "vision," "financial ability," "courage," etc. and while these were no doubt evils connected with some enterprises yet, today, most of us are free to admit that it was the one biggest influence in the development of the country?

which indicates that the actual cost was $32,000 over the budget estimate.

The estimate for 1929, including sewers, was $244,900 and the total cost including sewers, was $299,850, or $64,950 more than the estimate.

$16,000 OVER ESTIMATE

The cost of protecting persons and property in the 12 months of 1929 was $148,618.16, of which the principal items were $40,297.77 for the police department; $68,406.75 for the fire department and $34,000 for highway patrol. Budget estimates for these items for the year were $55,200 for police, $57,000 for fire department and $34,000 for highway patrol. Inspection costs charged to this department accounted for about $6,000 of the $148,618 total. The total estimated cost of the items listed in this department was $152,000, indicating that the cost was approximately $16,000 more than the figures given above.

The principal expenditures in the general government department and the estimates made a year ago were:

Mayor and aldermen salaries and office expense	Expense	Estimate
Treasurer	$16,072.12	$15,000
Clerk	4,987.31	4,000
Assessor, board of review	3,362.82	3,500
Audit	360.00	400
Attorney, opening terms, judgments	12,268.77	10,000
Engineers	8,436.98	7,000
City Hall	6,053.76	5,000
Elections	3,737.23	2,500
Ordinance revision		1,500
Pub. of ordinances	428.89
	$60,575.86	$49,000

SUBWAY COST $60,617.51

Payments aggregating $60,617.51 were made on the subway in 1929, Mr. Sleeper's figures indicate. The $60,617.51 was collected from $20,000 of this cost from the state and expects to get about $8,000 more. Something over $22,000 of the $60,000 paid represents payments made to property owners in the vicinity of the E. Wisconsin-ave subway.

Recreation expense last year was figured at $15,134 in Mr. Sleeper's audit. The items were $5,084 for the tourist park, $3,175.55 for celebrations, $984.15 for the swimming pool and $2,220.30 for supervised play. The cost of these items were estimated at $13,000 in the budget adopted for 1929.

Expenses totaling $149,272.09 were listed by Mr. Sleeper in his audit as "miscellaneous expenses" for the year. These figures include $28,000 paid to the water department for water main assessments collected and are not a city expense in the true sense of the word and should be deducted, leaving a total of $121,272.09. The estimate made for 1929 for these items was $12,000, an overrun of expenditures over estimates of $4,000. This overrun was caused principally by installation of ornamental lighting system for which the city paid $23,000 last year, much of which will be collected from property owners on College-ave.

Other expenditures in this account, and the estimate the council made for these expenses are as follows: Health department, spent $5,000; estimate $5,000; sewers and drainage, spent $2,539.65; estimate, $3,000; stock fair grounds, $2,327; estimate, $2,000; poor department, $22,166.23; estimate, $12,000; music in schools, $11,953.57; estimate, $12,500; interest on loans, $5,355; no estimate; bond interest, $31,000; estimate $30,000; judgment paid to Outagamie-co, $6,778.95; no estimate.

Other expenditures of the city in 1929 were $41,000 for retirement of the bonded debt on the waterworks and the schools; tax rebates aggregating $5,124.91; advance to the water works of $9,310.82.

The total expense of the city, taking out assessments collected for the waterworks utility but including the money paid on principal and interest of the bonded debt was $760,691.23. This figure includes $17,509 paid to the library and $19,000 paid to the park board. The common council's estimate for 1929, on which the tax levy for that year was based, was $644,700, or about $115,991 less than the actual cost of operating the city.

AWARD BOTH SIDES IN SUIT $171.66

Case Involving Lease Over Farm Really Results in Defendant's Favor

A verdict granting a similar amount to both the plaintiff and defendant was returned Thursday by the jury of six men in the lower branch of municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg in the case of William Weyenberg against Elmer Spaulding over an alleged breach of contract on a lease on a farm. The jury awarded the plaintiff $171.66 and a similar sum to the defendant.

About May 1, 1928, Weyenberg leased a farm to Spaulding at an annual rental of $700, to be paid monthly at the rate of $58.33, the plaintiff alleged. The rent, he charged, was paid up to Aug. 15, 1929. He asked $171.99 in back rent, $71 he claimed was due him for the sale of oat seed, $31 for hay, and $25 for labor, less $40 he admitted the defendant had paid.

Spaulding, admitting the purchase of the oat seed, filed a counterclaim. He charged that Weyenberg had failed to carry out his terms of the contract in that he did not repair the basement wall of the barn, install 12 calf stalls, repair windows on buildings, provide a good chicken house, repair the silo, provide three good workhorses, and furnish satisfactory tools. He also alleged that the plaintiff had permitted a judgment of foreclosure, and that Spaulding is threatened with removal from the farm this month. He asked for a judgment of $400.

The jury included Peter Wolf, 824 S. Kernan-ave; Stephen D. Dalliet, 123 S. Walnut-st; Henry M. Schneider, 318 S. Kernan-ave; Frank Kimball, 414 E. Atlantic-st; William Hawley, 1929 S. Oneida-st; and Joseph Van Roy, 1334 S. Kernan-ave.

MORROW LOOMS AS PROMINENT FIGURE AT BIG CONFERENCE

Leaders Appear to Be Turning to "Man from Mexico"

BY MILTON BRONNER
London.—The famous reporters for the big Paris newspaper these days are all looking for the man from Mexico. They are looking for the man who is to be the center of the big conference which is to be held in Paris on Monday.

The Frenchmen, observing this, were telegraphing to their papers and there were sharp differences between America and Great Britain and that Andre Tardieu, head of the French delegation, was acting as mediator and peacemaker between the warring Anglo-Saxons.

And then, without any warning, Stimson dropped his bomb. He issued his famous statement that America and England were in full agreement on naval parity. He pointed out that they were restricted in their carrying of battleships until they know what France and Japan would do about submarines. He adroitly placed most of the onus for the success or failure of the conference upon the French. He took the full leadership of the conference.

Now the French writers have to tell their audience that there was an Anglo-Saxon combine which was seeking to impose its will on the other countries.

Former Senator Fred Sackett of Kentucky and new American Ambassador to Germany, stopped off in London for a few days and was piloted around by Ambassador Davies, who is also a member of the American naval delegation. They appeared together at a big luncheon and had their heads close together. All the American news hounds began to sit up and take notice. Davies must be telling Sackett the real inside dope about the naval conference. Wherefore as soon as the American scribes could do so, they grabbed both men and tried to put them through the third degree. Sackett was very tactful. Davies beamed at the reporters and said:

"As a matter of fact, I have not been talking to Fred about the conference at all, but have been telling him all I know about high diplomacy and especially as regards your fellows. I gave him three rules:

"FIRST—Keep your nose out of it."
"SECOND—Smile."
"THIRD—Say nothing to the reporters and say it a lot."

There is a general feeling among political observers that when things get down to a real crisis in the conference the American who will play a very large part is Dwight Morrow, American Ambassador to Mexico. Up to now the delegates have pretty well divided their labors. Secretary of State Stimson has had most of the conversations with Premier Ramsay MacDonald, head of the British delegation; Hugh Gibson, American Ambassador to Belgium, has done most of the talking with the French delegates, because he speaks French perfectly and does not have to bother with an interpreter.

er; Dawes and Secretary of the Navy Adams have tackled the Italians; and Senators Reed and Robinson have busied themselves with the Japanese.

The American delegates have acted like one big happy family. There has been no politics, Democratic Senatorial leader Joe Robinson being in thorough sympathy with the aims and purposes of his Republican colleagues. The feeling as to the importance of Morrow was manifested in striking style the other day because the Nation, a great liberal weekly, devoted a special article to him, something it has done to no other delegate on any of the national bodies. After paying tribute to his great successes as lawyer, financier and Ambassador to Mexico, it said of him "he seems to possess an almost uncanny gift for reconciling those conflicting interests which strike the ordinary man as irreconcilable."

And it went on to hint that before the conference ended its labors, he would have ample opportunity to demonstrate his abilities.

When the American delegates and their wives recently dined at Admiralty House as the guests of A. V. Alexander, Secretary of the British Admiralty, nothing interested them so much as the table at which they sat in the historic dining room. For at one end of the table they observed that a round piece had been cut out. It was gravely explained to them that this was done for the comfort and convenience of Samuel Pepys, author of the most famous diary in the world. Pepys in the days of his prime was secretary of the British Admiralty. He had a very large and a very round tummy which was the mark of the good manner in which he dined and wined. This tummy was so protuberant that the gentlemen as the Admiralty had the idea of cutting out a round piece from the table. Pepys fitted himself into this curve and could then do justice to all the food and drink that were placed in front of him.

FIX LOAD LIMIT ON COUNTY ROADS

Signs Warning Public of Ruling Are Erected by Highway Commission

With warm weather continuing to hold forth in this community, Frank Appleton, county highway commissioner, Thursday again warned motorists and more particularly truck drivers, that a load limit has been designated on highways in the county and that violations of the ruling will make the offender liable to arrest and fine. Notices of the ruling are being erected at vantage points on various roads in the county.

Loads in excess of 1,000 pounds on 2-foot pavements and on gravel roads and of 12,000 pounds on pavements wider than nine feet, are prohibited, according to Mr. Appleton. The highway commissioner promised that the ruling will be enforced.

"More roads are damaged now than at any other time of year," Mr. Appleton said. "Frost is coming out of the ground, the earth is soft, and wheels easily sink down to the hubs. If we do not take precautions to prevent heavy loads from being hauled over the roads, the result is very evident."

North Carolina produced $2,277,000 pounds of copper last year.

Talks To Parents

FOR DISCIPLINE

BY ALICE JUDSON PEARLE

A certain trained nurse, who must for herself a reputation by her success in establishing good eating and living habits in little children that parents actually send them of to her from time to time to stay for a week or a month, said:

Children, who are brought to me, are usually very well behaved and well dressed. They are usually very obedient and very clean. They are usually very happy and very contented. They are usually very well behaved and well dressed. They are usually very obedient and very clean. They are usually very happy and very contented.

At the same time, they are usually very disobedient and very dirty. They are usually very unhappy and very discontented. They are usually very disobedient and very dirty. They are usually very unhappy and very discontented.

How do you think you can get your children to be like the first group? How do you think you can get your children to be like the second group? How do you think you can get your children to be like the third group?

Remember, the children who are brought to me are usually very well behaved and well dressed. They are usually very obedient and very clean. They are usually very happy and very contented.

THE LAXATIVE WITH HIGHEST ENDORSEMENT

When you get out of bed feeling sluggish, sluggish, weak, halfhearted, it is a simple measure that will have you feeling yourself again in a day.

Take a little Phillips Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water—or lemonade. Two to four tablespoons is the usual adult dose. Taken in lemonade, Phillips Milk of Magnesia acts like a natural laxative. Take it like this an hour before breakfast. By the time you leave home, you'll be surprised by your improvement.

As a mild, safe, pleasant laxative, Phillips Milk of Magnesia has the highest medical endorsement. As an antidote to correct sour stomach, gas, indigestion, biliousness, it has been standard with doctors for over fifty years. To know its quick relief in digestive and eliminative troubles of men, women, children—and babies—is to keep a bottle always handy.

Full directions for all its uses come with every bottle. All drug stores have the generous 25c and 50c sizes.

bureau at Milwaukee before April 6, according to Alfred C. Bosser, service officer of Ony Johnston post of the American Legion.

Former service men who have disability that they can prove originated while in federal service should not delay in filing claims, he said. If there is no mention of illness on service records, but it is believed that illness was contracted while in the service and it can be given credit as such, an application should be filed one year after discharge application blanks should be filed out. If any doubt exists, service men should consult the secretary.

Veterans of any war are eligible for hospital treatment or medical care even if the disability or illness was not contracted in the service. Mr. Brown also pointed out.

"We are prosperous because we ride in automobiles," Walter P. Chrysler, automobile manufacturer.

Now Majestic GUARANTEES

No Reduction in Prices!

Realizing that a satisfied owner is the greatest advertisement of all, Majestic has always sought to have its owners proud of their purchase. Majestic owners are proud of their Majestic sets. To prove it, look around you—make inquiries—ask your neighbor who owns a Majestic. And many more than two million happy people do so.

In the "For Sale" columns of the want ad sections of great city dailies, you will find hundreds of other sets "For Sale Cheap," but you seldom find a Majestic thus advertised.

In fact, it's hard to buy a "second-hand" Majestic. Dealers will tell you that the few times they do take in a Majestic it is usually part payment on a new Majestic; and the "old Majestic" is sold so quickly there is hardly time to even wipe off the dust. In practically every section of the country the dealers' own Blue Book, which gives the official trade-in price of every make of radio set, classifies Majestic as having the highest trade-in value of any radio set in the country.

This bespeaks pride of ownership. But this ad gives you another definite reason why you can be prouder still of any Majestic you are thinking of buying.

Effective immediately, Grigsby-Grunow guarantees that the company will not reduce the list price of its present models up to January 1, 1931.

Pause and realize the significance of the above announcement—Majestic, the world's largest manufacturers of complete radio receivers, can only make it because of having already put into effect every saving possible through mass production and mass purchasing power. Majestic has priced its present series of sets at the lowest possible figures at which quality merchandise, of the standard required by Majestic engineers, can be produced—has instituted the most economical distribution methods known to the industry.

Your investment is safe with Majestic—safe as to quality, safe as to price. If you have hesitated to buy a Majestic, being confused at the lurid offers of bankrupt merchandise being dumped on the market, go this day to any authorized Majestic Dealer and buy your Majestic. You can feel absolutely confident that you are buying a good money's worth and absolute security on value, not to mention the most important thing of all—your pride in owning a set that is the finest that hands and brains can create.

A NEW OUSTER PROCEEDING

A petition has been filed with Gov. Kohler for the appointment of special counsel to institute ouster proceedings against Lieut.-Governor Henry Huber, Attorney-General John W. Reynolds and Secretary of State Theodore Dammann. It is charged that these three state officials "did conspire and agree together to conduct their campaigns for nomination jointly and to pool the expenses in such a manner as to eliminate the individual responsibility of the candidates and to permit surreptitious manipulation of accounts in order to fraudulently make it appear that each candidate confined his expenditures within the legal limits."

The details of this alleged organization and conspiracy are set forth. It is charged also that these officials benefitted from the $5,000 contribution of Attorney Richard Lee of New York, which was not reported and which the contributor has himself admitted; also, that copies of Labor, having an approximate value of $36,000, plus postage of $2,000, were circulated in behalf of the Progressives, together with free copies of other publications, and not reported.

There can be no doubt that the proceedings are frankly political, but on the face of the petition there is more ground for ouster proceedings against these officials than there is in the suit brought against Gov. Kohler. In the case of the governor, it is a question of petty and technical acts, like the use of his employees' band, the entertainment of guests at his home and similar folderol. The supreme court has said that money spent in the state campaign without the knowledge or consent of the governor could not be charged to his account nor is he morally responsible.

Granting that upwards of $100,000 was spent in the Republican campaign in Wisconsin, it is not an excessive amount considering the fact that it was a presidential year and Wisconsin was a pivotal state. There was nothing wrong or irregular about the use of this money, and no one has even intimated that it was spent corruptly. In the case of the Progressive ticket, there does not seem to be any denial of the fact that the $5,000 contribution from New York was concealed and that great quantities of partisan publications were circulated free without being reported.

Here, it seems to us, is a far worse violation of the corrupt practices act, both legally and morally, than anything that has been alleged in connection with Gov. Kohler's campaign and that could be construed in the even remotest degree as an actual or intentional violation of the law. It is the quality and nature of an act that counts, and if we measure by this standard the campaigns of the two factions, and even the individuals, in the 1928 elections, that conducted by the Progressives must suffer heavily in the estimation of any unprejudiced person. Not only did they stoop to the very practices they have manufactured against Gov. Kohler, but they conducted a campaign of vilification and persecution such as has seldom occurred in this state. One is forced to the conclusion that a dose of their own medicine administered to these "holier-than-thou" politicians would be good for their disposition if not their rectitude.

COAST GUARD ACTIVITIES

Some facts about the United States coast guard seem timely. In the year 1929, according to an official report, the members of the coast guard saved more lives and rescued more ships and persons from peril than in any previous fiscal year. Ships of greater value were assisted in emergencies.

The total number of persons rescued was 4,375, nearly 400 more than in 1928. Several thousand others were assisted in some way. The value of vessels assisted, including their cargoes, was $49,128,375.

It is well to note these facts in view of the criticisms sometimes made of the coast guard because of its prohibition enforcement duties. The mistakes made in that work are doubtless far fewer in proportion to the good work of the coast guard than thoughtless and emotional critics imply or realize.

MAKES CASE TOO STRONG

The Rev. John Ryan, Catholic university sociologist, appearing before the house committee which is conducting hearings on bills to repeal or modify the dry laws stated some facts forcefully and accurately, and like all extreme partisans in a controversy, exaggerated in other particulars. We can agree with him when he declares that the prohibition experiment belongs "definitely in the category of legislative failures." He is also within the facts when he says that only an infinitesimal number of actual violators of the law are apprehended, and that the extent to which home brewing and moonshining is engaged in is realized by but few persons. But when he says that the wets are engaged in "a great crusade for fundamental liberties that are not one whit less sacred than those which were fought for by men who made the American revolution," he is putting the case a bit strong.

Without doubt constitutional rights have been invaded in the attempted enforcement of prohibition, and in the opinion of a great body of intelligent and patriotic Americans the eighteenth amendment has no proper place in the constitution and represents a perversion of that great document; nevertheless, its constitutionality has been upheld, so that the technical legality of the amendment is hardly to be questioned. The real charge against it is that of mistaken policy, in that it constitutes an attempt to regulate a moral decision by constitutional mandate and represents an impractical and vicious interference with personal freedom. We may be sure that our forefathers fought for a great deal more than the "right to have their liquor," and that fundamentally the issues of the conflict cannot be compared in any sense to the dispute over prohibition. There has been a transgression of constitutional rights in the administration of the dry laws, and this is a proper subject for popular resentment, but, as we have said, the real case against the eighteenth amendment lies in the fact that it is an unwise and altogether harmful exercise of constitutional power, not that it does not conform to powers expressly set up and designated in the constitution for its amendment or alteration.

We are not going to have a civil war in this country over booze and so far as we can see there is not much sympathy due those who have sacrificed their lives in attempts to violate or evade the law in the miniature warfare that has existed since the "dry regime" commenced. Indeed, there is no occasion for taking too seriously the interference with personal liberty, owing to the fact that the law has never been honestly enforced and that open and general nullification is and always would be preferred by the presidents and the federal government to anything approaching civil disorder.

OUR CRIMINAL CROP

A judge on the criminal bench observes that whereas the average criminal a few years ago was a middle-aged man, most of the criminals now are from 17 to 24 years old. The war is over, and there isn't much left of the hectic period that followed it, with its upsetting of old standards. What is to be done now to prevent the fruition of a new crop of criminals? Sterner home discipline is what the judge recommends.

Personal discipline might be considered the great need of our people today. We get discipline in business, and perhaps in school, but not much elsewhere. The home is the natural place to start. If children do not have self-control, perseverance, team work and regard for other people's rights drilled into them at home, how can they be expected to fit into the social organization later on?

"One member, however, grew apprehensive at a letter threatening to toss bombs in the senate chamber, and suggested that several buckets of water be kept at hand for this emergency."

Maybe the senator was afraid someone might faint.

MARY LYON'S BIRTH
On Feb. 28, 1837, Mary Lyon, founder of Mount Holyoke College, and a leader in the movement for higher education of women, was born on a farm in Franklin County, Massachusetts.

While receiving her education at three different schools near her home, Miss Lyon observed that the courses of instruction were too intellectual and strenuous for "young ladies." Resolved to start an institution which would meet the needs of young women of moderate means, she secured the aid of Edward Hitchcock, the geologist, and Miss Zilpah P. Grant, a teacher.

Finally in 1838, she incorporated a female seminary at South Hadley, Massachusetts, and served as its principal for 12 years at an annual salary of $200. Her work at that institution, now known as Mount Holyoke College, was an important step in the higher education of women.

LOOK AND SEE IF YOU NEED THE NEW HEALTH DIET

This corrective diet was suggested by Lovell Langstroth, a California physician, to correct or at least to protect people from the faults of the usual American dietary, and I am giving it now for the third time:

BREAKFAST
Glass of orange juice 100
Two eggs 156
Fresh fruit 150
Glass of Milk 150

Total 506
LUNCHEON
One-third head of lettuce 15
One tablespoonful of oil 93
Two fresh vegetables 30
One pat of butter 35
Fruit of milk 332
Fresh fruit 80

Total 696
DINNER
Meat 190
One-third head of lettuce 15
One tablespoonful of oil 93
Two fresh vegetables 30
One pat of butter 35
Glass of milk 150
Cheese 89
Handful of nuts 110

Totals 945

Such a diet gives a total of 2,347 calories for the day. That is barely sufficient to maintain at normal weight an adult of average size who just sits around all day. For an adult who is moderately active, say one who walks a mile or two every day, the diet would be moderate reduction diet. For an adult of medium height who is already overfed the diet would be a rather quick reduction diet.

Weight reduction, however, is not the purpose of the new health diet, but only an incidental effect. The diet is intended to bring about a better balance of the various components of our daily food and to supply a more adequate amount of vitamins than are present in the usual American dietary—meat, bread, tea, coffee, sugar, potatoes, sweets, moreover the new health diet provides alkaline mineral matter to oppose the acid ash of the usual dietary; and finally it gives a relatively larger residue.

I commend the new health diet particularly to the following types of near invalids:

1. Men and women who develop the makings of "rheumatism" for the first time, along toward middle age.
2. Plethoric folk with hypertension.
3. Healthy individuals who nevertheless have trouble with "gas," "indigestion," bloating after eating.
4. Men of 50 who can't run a mile.
5. Nice girls of nobody's business just what ages whose happiness is marred by the insidious encroachment of embonpoint.
6. Gentlemen who become supporters before they are made directors of corporations.

Any one who essays to follow the protective diet should understand that, as outlined, it is only suggestive. One need not necessarily confine the menu to the items mentioned, though it is not easy to vary the choice of foods without sacrificing some of the special values of the diet.

Probably lots of folk could adhere to the diet, at least for a few weeks long enough to see whether it will do one any good, if a cup of tea or coffee were permissible for breakfast and for dinner. I am happy to say it is, as a rule, though without cream or sugar, or with as little of these as possible.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The Aluminum War
Dr. Brady lends the weight of special emphasis to the assurance that aluminum cooking utensils are harmless. This I know, that if I drink coffee made in an aluminum percolator I have severe burning sensations in the mouth and throat for some time . . . (J.C.)

Answer—Well, my sympathy goes out to any one who has to drink coffee made in a percolator, but receiving this alarming news I have and home and examined our coffee

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

Washington—How United States senators spend their time on the floor while a colleague addresses them, as observed from a point of vantage in the press gallery during a recent two-hour speech on the tariff by Young Bob LaFollette:

Gray-haired Norris of Nebraska follows with the closest attention (as he does always) every word uttered by the young progressive. So does Hiram Johnson of California.

The tall lanky Brock of Tennessee paces up and down in the back of the chamber, now and then darting in and out of the Democratic cloakrooms.

Hatfield of West Virginia goes in quest of a tariff expert on the far side of the chamber, and earnestly asks him several questions. His colleague, Goff, confers with Loeffler, doorkeeper for the Republicans.

Kean of New Jersey sits with his back to LaFollette, stroking his mustache and gazing blankly at the galleries.

DEMOCRATS TALK

Townsend of Delaware directs his attention to a pile of papers on his desk as does Blaine, LaFollette's colleague.

Tom Walsh of Montana, Democratic leader during Joe Robinson's absence in London, appears at the door of the Democratic cloakroom, listens for a few minutes, then goes to his desk and sits down. Smoot strolls casually into the chamber and takes a rest.

In a corner on the Democratic side, Pat Harrison and Sheppard of Texas talk earnestly. Smoot turns to his tariff expert and they confer. Swanson of Virginia puts in his appearance at a desk near Walsh and the two converse.

Wesley Jones of Washington, wearing a light gray suit and a flaming red tie, enters, deposits his brief case on his desk and disappears immediately in the Republican cloakroom. Goff and Hatfield go into conference and are joined by Metcalf of Rhode Island, who stands with an arm about the shoulders of each.

Phipps of Colorado and Robison, the new senator from Kentucky, exchange pleasantries down front.

OTHERS CONFER

Harrison and Swanson go into a huddle. Smith of South Carolina comes in, says something to Townsend, disappears in the cloakroom and returns reading a paper.

Smoot starts pacing in the back of the chamber. Pat Harrison confers with Overman of North Carolina. Cutting of New Mexico drifts in with a bored air and sits at his desk.

Nye of North Dakota enters and sits near LaFollette.

Brock and Caraway of Arkansas, having met up in the Democratic cloakroom enter laughing. A page goes to Walsh's desk and he leaves the chamber. Another approaches Norris with a card from some one outside who wishes to see him, but he shakes his head vigorously and continues to listen.

Brooks of Colorado enters and sits near LaFollette.

MAJORITY OF MAIN HIGHWAYS IN STATE IN FAIR CONDITION

Continued Warm Weather Will Make Unpaved Roads Soft, However

The majority of principal highways in the state either are in good or fair condition, a report received by the county highway commission from the Wisconsin Highway commission indicates. The recent warm spell has softened unpaved sections, but frost is not sufficiently out of the ground to cause trouble, the report said. If mild weather continues much longer, however, travel will be difficult over unsurfaced sections, and in case of a freeze, pavements will be dangerously slippery, it is pointed out.

Here is the report on the principal state highways:

Highway No. 2. Hurley to Superior. Open and in fair condition.

Highway No. 8. Niagara to St. Croix Falls. Fair to good entire distance.

Highway No. 10. Manitowoc to Hudson. Good condition.

REPORT FAVORABLY
ON PEAVEY LAND BILL

(Post-Crescent Wash. Bureau)

Washington—The House Committee on Public Lands has reported favorably on Representative Peavey's bill granting to the State of Wisconsin certain unappropriated public lands in meandered areas.

This bill will, if passed, give about 250 miles of lake shore land to Wisconsin.

Paul D. Kelleter of Madison, Director of the Wisconsin Conservation Commission appeared before the committee to urge the approval of the bill.

The land was erroneously surveyed in 1854 and shown upon official plats as water-covered area. Wisconsin, in buying nearby land, thought that she also owned the 250 miles in question but found no official record of her ownership and discovered that land was considered Federal property.

The bill introduced by Representative Hubert Peavey of Washburn will remedy this situation.

Swordfish is now regarded as a food in Boston and is sold in some places at 50 cents a pound.

SCHOOLMASTERS UP IN AIR ON MODERN MASS EDUCATION

Don't Quite See How They Are Going to Put Theory
into Practice

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
Atlantic City—The schoolmasters seem to be hung up on the problem of how to get modern scientific education into mass production. They can turn out a grade A laboratory product in the small and heavily subsidized experimental schools. Trying to work the new methods in the factory run of big city public schools brings disappointment.

Personnel, buildings and equipment for the necessary elaboration of teaching processes are lacking. There is a great public inertia, still unshaken by the quick remarkable achievements of the experimental schools.

Delegates to the meeting of the department of superintendence of the National Education association, here this week, find this disillusioning reality of what William James called the "stubborn irreducible fact" in their otherwise genial and optimistic discussions. Collectively, their addresses and informal talks make it clear that educational technique in America is running considerably ahead of available tax funds, and that the teachers will have to educate, or at any rate convince the parents before they can really turn themselves loose with the youngsters.

WINNETKA IS MODEL
Among educators questioned by this reporter, it was generally agreed that the school system of Winnetka, Ill., had done more than perhaps any system in the country in actually turning out the new theories in a public school; that children in these schools develop a wolfish appetite for learning; that their graduates are not sheiks or gunmen and that they ring the bell in college and after life. Winnetka is constantly visited by educators from other countries as one of the great educational laboratories of the world, including a delegation of 25 of the foremost educators of Germany, seeking a model for the new German school system.

But the educators note that Winnetka is one of the seashore suburbs of Chicago, with perhaps more Phil Beta Kappa keys to the square block than any other American suburb. How would all these new findings go in the average big tax-ridden city? the educators ask.

Dr. Carleton Washburne, superintendent of the Winnetka schools, is highly respected by schoolmen throughout the country as having achieved remarkable results in giving a practical application to the best of the thoroughly modern educational methods. He was asked to-day what hope there was for the every-day public school to catch up with the findings of the laboratory schools and put them into use.

"It will necessarily be piece-meal work," he said. "Detroit, whose problem is typical with its heterogeneous population and its rapid growth, is making a splendid try at it. It is taking a single school and feeling its way, as its resources will permit. It is learning a lot and it will gradually convince its public of the tremendous social and economic gains to come from scientific education."

"Our system takes into account not only the freedom and happiness

"Footlights and Fools"

The admirers of Colleen Moore are legion and a strong array of them turned out at the Appleton theatre last night, when her latest National picture, "Footlights and Fools," had its first performance in this city.

The new picture presents Miss Moore at her best—which, as everybody knows, is a very wonderful best indeed; and it is quite safe to say that "Footlights and Fools" will not merely retain and even deepen the allegiance of her tremendous public, but is quite certain to add to the number of those who regard her as the most charming, the most dainty and gifted and altogether delightful of motion picture stars.

Colleen Moore is clever, she is versatile to an astonishing degree; of the child, but the importance of developing a social consciousness. It considers the social pattern and at the same time attempts to open ways of expression for the child's imaginative and creative faculties. This is all more or less old pedagogy. John Dewey was saying things like this 30 years ago. Such progress as we can claim is in our laboratory demonstration of the soundness of these conclusions and some little gains in actually putting them into effect."

Oklahoma City—Primo Carnera and his manager, Leo See, are putting into the ground some of the dollars they have amassed through the rapidity with which the big fellow's opponents have been sunk. The two have formed a company to deal in oil properties.

New York—(AP)—Linen shoes dyed to match the sports costume; linen one-strap shoes with eyeliner embroidery in pink, blue, green, gold; linen pumps with toes embroidered or perforated and perhaps with perforated heels—these will help mitigate for sports spectators the heat of summer. Or will they? Much depends on the shade you select.

This spring promises to do much of its revealing in printed creases and printed creases. The pattern seems to be whatever you please. Sometimes it is small and haphazard; sometimes it is large and modernistic; sometimes it is flowers, sometimes it is fruit, and sometimes it is geometry gone rainbow.

On the Air Tonight

By The Associated Press

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Barre Hill, nationally famous concert and operatic tenor, will be featured as guest artist at 8:30 tonight from WTMJ and NBC stations.

Mary and Bob, the radio travelers become involved in a drama which describes in an intensely realistic manner the entanglements which in-involved a farmer's wife who was liberated from her accustomed drudgery by the unexpected discovery of an oil gusher on the family acres. At 8 o'clock, WMAQ and Columbia stations present this feature.

The Quaker Girl's evening at home will include excerpts from "Katinka" Rudolph Friml's operetta of more than a dozen years ago when she goes on the air over NBC network including WTMJ. The time is 9 o'clock.

Honor to an unsung hero of progress will be done by the players at WLW in the Historical Highlights when they dramatize the story of John Fitch, said by many authorities to have been the real inventor of the steamboat.

A humorous negro cast put on an equally humorous rendition of a "Rigoletto" dress rehearsal at 9 o'clock through WLS and the NBC system.

New York—Malcolm P. Hanson, chief radio operator of the Byrd expedition, has just seen the features of Malcolm P. Hanson, Jr., for the first time. Pictures of loved ones reached explorers homeward bound from the Antarctic. Malcolm Jr., is 15 months old.

Lucky Mother

"My success with Dorothy isn't just luck," says Mrs. J. Erasmus, 412 Fourteenth St., Milwaukee. "It is due to a plan."

"She has escaped the ill-effects of colds and upsets because, at the first sign of a cold; of bad breath, coated tongue or feverishness, I open her bowels with California Fig Syrup. She loves its taste and I like its gentle, thorough action."

Mothers by thousands praise California Fig Syrup. For fifty years physicians have endorsed this pure vegetable product. It tones and strengthens stomach and bowels; stimulates appetite; encourages digestion and assimilation. Its use helps make shallow, listless children rosy and energetic.

Look for the name California when buying. That marks the genuine; safe for infants, effective for children in their teens. adv.

TAKING SAMPLES OF CITY WATER FINISHED

Neenah—Taking of samples of water from the city wells will be completed Friday evening by the Dearborn Chemical company of Chicago. The work has been progressing during the past few weeks in an effort to ascertain whether or not a softer grade of water can be secured in this vicinity and from some of the harder stratas, the city will be able to secure soft water from its present wells. A full report is expected from the testers within a few days which will be submitted to the city council. The council will then decide whether to secure the proper machinery and equipment for pumping the soft water to the consumers.

ATTORNEY GETS LIST OF DELINQUENT TAXES

Neenah—A list of about 60 persons whose 1935 income taxes are delinquent, has been turned over by Earl Fuller, county treasurer, to the office of Frank R. Keefe, district attorney, for collection. The delinquent tax approximately totals $2,600 and is from the June and September lists. Those whose names are included failed to pay their tax at the proper time last year. Mr. Fuller states that the notices were later sent to them by the sheriff and these persons again failed to pay. It is necessary the district attorney is to take legal action to force collection. The delinquent taxpayers come from all parts of the county, but are principally from the cities. Mr. Fuller states there are a few on the delinquent list who have not paid in the last three or four years. Special warrants may be issued to enforce collection in these cases. It was said.

NO DECISION MADE ON DISPUTED BILL BY MENASHA COUNCIL

Aldermen Decide to Have Attorneys and Officials Meet on Matter

Menasha—The bill of J. H. Harold, contractor, over which there is a dispute, for narrowing the sidewalk on the north side of Main-st and for the replacement of pavement was discussed for more than two hours at a special meeting of the common council Thursday evening. The council claims overcharges and has refused to pay some of the items. Mr. Harold has engaged District Attorney Frank Keefe of Oshkosh to represent him, but he was unable to be present Thursday evening and sent Simon Hodwitz, second district attorney to represent him.

No definite action was taken on the bill. It was decided, however, to take the matter up again with attorneys of the contractor and city officials, including the city engineer, city attorney and city auditor in an effort to get together. The fire and police commission was authorized to purchase new tires for the police department car, and a petition for a new sewer on Broadway, running west to Manitowish was referred to the water and light committee and to the city engineer.

Menasha—M. W. Stulp was absent from his duties at the postoffice Friday due to illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Rees are visiting relatives and friends at Jefferson and Fort Atkinson.

Sharkey Wins From Scott On Technical Knockout

BUTON CLAIMS HE WAS FOULED; THEN REFUSES TO FIGHT

Show Is Financial and Fistic Flop Risko-Campolo in Draw

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The cry of "fair or foul" was raised again today amidst the chaos of the heavyweight fistic realm as a result of Jack Sharkey's technical knockout victory over Phil Scott in the third round of the weldest contest any tropical moon has shone upon.

Sharkey was declared the winner by Referee Lou Magnolia last night after the lanky British champion had claimed a foul, taken a complete minute's rest to recuperate as the claim was disallowed and, then, refused altogether to continue as he swayed against the ropes from the effects of a terrific left hook to the pit of the stomach.

The spectacle of his third round, the climax to a carnival of clout that was a financial as well as a fistic flop, probably has no precedent in the history of American heavyweight boxing—with Sharkey first warned for hitting low, Scott then sinking with an agonizing look and cry of foul, police and handlers in the ring as the referee helped drag Scott to his corner for an examination and a minute's rest, Sharkey racing around the ring with tears streaming down his face as he feared disqualification, Scott then limping out to continue the bout with pain written all over his face and, finally the abrupt end with Scott erect but virtually helpless on the ropes, protesting his inability to move from the effects of body blows or an alleged foul or both.

Sharkey won the decision and as a result, the right to battle Max Schmeling, the German champion, for a bout that will be billed for the world's championship in June at the Yankee stadium, New York. The Boston sailor, however, in the opinion of most critics, fought an unsatisfactory fight, jeopardizing his chances of winning from an opponent he obviously outclassed and added nothing to his prestige as the leading American title contender.

SCOTT THROUGH
Scott, thoroughly eliminated from any further consideration in the heavyweight circus, left a sorrowful impression as a fighter. Regardless of the questionable blows struck or the merits of the referee's action, Scott put up a performance that served only to emphasize his reputation for claiming disputed fouls. The argument as to whether Scott was fouled, whether it has an ultimate importance, may go on for some time to come without being settled. Experts at the ringside differed sharply on the question, some maintaining that Scott was hit low at least six times and that Sharkey should have been disqualified; others asserting that while the American hit low several times on Scott's thigh, he did not deliver any directly foul punches.

Referee Magnolia declared he saw no low punches but after the fight, examination of Scott showed a lump on the right leg, several inches below the waist-line. An examining physician described the injury as traumatic ecchymosis, producing a partial paralysis which contributed to the limping manner in which he went out after the evening fight. In the ring, however, as the height of the confusion and during the minute's armistice that Magnolia declared to make his examination, both the referee and the official boxing commission physician decided Scott was neither fouled nor hurt.

Magnolia explained that his extraordinary action in stopping the fight for a full minute was prompted by a desire to avoid any possible "squawk" or charge of unfair dealing. The referee, in the opinion of some observers, indicated at first a motion to disqualify Sharkey but Magnolia denied he ever entertained this idea. The somewhat general view, however, was that Magnolia, instead of playing safe either should have counted Scott out as he went down and rolled over on his back, manifesting agony, or immediately disqualified him.

OPINION DIFFER
The opinion as to where Sharkey's blows landed differed, according to the ringside viewpoint. Even Magnolia admitted he did not have an unobstructed view at all the questionable punches. The blow which sent Scott down, claiming foul, was, curiously similar to the one struck by Otto von Furst against the Briton in Madison Square Garden some months ago and which resulted in the disqualification of the Norwegian. As on that occasion, however, Scott acted somewhat uncertain as to just what to do until finally sinking to the canvas. The Englishman, after the minute's respite, was in no mood to continue and did so only after the ultimatum of the referee to go on or be declared the loser. It took Scott not much longer to decide he had had enough for the evening, as he slumped against the ropes from a vicious left hook to the stomach. There was no question of the fairness of this blow.

The third round lasted three minutes and 24 seconds, including the minute devoted to debate and rest. All told, Scott was on the floor three times for a count, once in the second round after being rushed to his corner and felled by a left hook to the head. He took a count of six and lasted out the round without much trouble. Another wild rush by Sharkey, early in the third round, put Scott down for a count of three along the ropes. The Briton was down for another count of six before the blow that aroused the big controversy.

Side sports writers at the ringside gave it as their opinion that Sharkey used unnecessarily unfair tactics and struck Scott more than a few obviously foul punches. They be-

To Meet Schmeling in June

JACK SHARKEY

Jack Sharkey, by reason of his victory over Phalling Phil Scott last night, will meet Max Schmeling of Germany, for the heavyweight championship of the world in June at the Yankee stadium. While Sharkey was victor last night, his showing failed to impress ringside critics.

Pitiful, Lamentable, English Writer Says

BY BERNARD RICKATSON-HATT
Chief American Correspondent of Reuters News Agency of London
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—From the British point of view last night's game was a most pitiful and lamentable affair. The English public had high hopes of their champion, and many believed rightly or wrongly that Scott's fight with Sharkey would definitely place their chosen representative in the most exclusive of all circles in the realm of fistiana, the Valhalla of heavyweight champions. But in Valhalla there must be no fouls.

Even now the gods must be sitting on high snuffing, as the odor of sacrifice, the foul miasma, wafted up to high heaven from that hard steel ring with the blood-red ropes. To an Englishman it was a heart rending spectacle to see the British heavyweight champion groping his feeble way along those red ropes like a partridge fluttering on the ground with a broken wing. Speaking frankly, but without any desire to be dogmatic about it, it seemed to me that the blow that felled Scott in the black third round was low and therefore a foul, and I don't doubt for one moment that if the fight had been staged in London, Sharkey would have been disqualified.

On the other hand, only the recording angel can tell us if Scott was really hurt. One doctor said one thing, one another. Scott told me in his dressing room afterwards he had been fouled six times at least. Certainly Phil appeared to be in agony when a doctor tried to raise his right leg from the thigh. Lou Magnolia on the other hand declared positively that he had seen no foul blows struck at any time. Last Tuesday I had a talk with this kindly faced, courteous referee who was called upon last night to make such a momentous decision. I asked him if he could promise the British public that Phil would get an absolutely square deal in an American prize ring. Mr. Magnolia said to me: "Absolutely. Phil will be given every chance. When I'm in the ring I call them as I see them. No manager, promoter or president of any boxing commission living could prevent me doing what I thought right. If Phil Scott wins I will raise his hand as quickly and as surely as I would that of any American."

After the fight last night I again spoke to Magnolia. He said: "You saw I gave Phil every possible break. I even stopped the fight to allow him to go on. But the plain truth is Phil can't take a blow to the stomach."

It is easy for me to see the storm of criticism which is likely to break shortly over Scott's head in the United States. The drama of a real fight between a skilled boxer of the shrinking violet type and a clever fighter filled to the fingertips with the venom of blood lust and self confidence will be forgotten and only the man who cries wolf will be remembered. But this, I venture to submit, may be urged on Scott's behalf. Phil has been brought up from boyhood on the English tradition (and after all it was in England, was it not, that modern boxing had its birth) that a foul is a foul and should be treated as such. In America another philosophy has grown up 'orn of the cult of intensity and enthusiasm in all athletic pursuits. In short it seems to be the general belief that it is not sporting for a fighter to claim a foul, even if he is hit low, unless he is really seriously hurt and cannot possibly continue. He must in short expect to encounter such things in his days work. Far be it from me to say that this is not a most excellent view and in every way as good as the English one, but Scott, remember, has not been fed on this doctrine. His tastes are for a fight and to him a foul is a foul.

The rebuilt links of the Beverly Country Club, Chicago, will be the scene of the 1930 western amateur meet, July 21-26.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—
THERE are more than 500 fighters hanging around the fight rings now. You can get 'em in any size and condition you want. Leon See says that if Primo cuts loose against his opponents right off the bat, the fight looks money. 'Em he has told Camera to let 'em stay in there a while. May be one of 'em will stay in there too long one of these fine evenings. Camera is supposed to meet Kayo Christner in the Garden April 11. If Primo bats Kayo down anywhere before round six, well admit he shows promise. McGraw will have no less than 16 pitchers in camp. That lets you in on his problem. Hack Wilson wears the largest collar in the majors. Size 17. Which is about the same size as the shoes worn by Vernon Gomez, the Yankees' new pitcher from the coast.

LAWRENCE CAGERS INVADE RIFON FOR TONIGHT'S GAME

Both Yearling and Varsity Fives Battle on Crimson Floor

CONFIDENT as a result of its victory over the Crimson here last week, yet remembering that the Redman walloped Hamline university the other night by annexing 60 points, Lawrence college basketball team invades Rifon tonight for its annual encounter on the Rifon court.

The Lawrence freshmen also are making the jaunt to the enemy camp Friday night and if the weather is half way amiable there will be several hundred Viking students on hand. Plans for the student influx on Rifon are not complete but several meetings at Lawrence have been called off so students can take the trip.

Two one point defeats in the last week may have made the Lawrence varsity a bit down hearted but it has not dampened the ardor of the students.

The showing of the fives even to defeat has been all that the spectators could ask and as the team indications are Rifon is to receive the full brunt of the offense Friday. And who doesn't like to be in on a "kill."

It's not hard to pick the squad Coach Denney will send against Rifon on Friday night, and if the regulars can do a good job in the first half of the first three quarters they may be permitted to rest while some of the reserves stretch themselves.

Frank Scheller will be at center Friday night and if he continues the work of the last four or five games, Coach A. C. Denney will have nothing to worry about. The fans at Rifon don't like Scheller and the big center will never get a chance like Friday night to even a lot of old scores with Crimson spectators.

Bigs and Zimmers will be first licks at forward with Bobby Rasmussen on the reserve list. Remmel continues to be the sparkplug of the Viking offense and if Rifon guards show the laxity that is characteristic of them, both forwards should count heavily in the scoring column.

The guard positions will go to Bud Pierce and Paul Fischl who have been performing in a manner that leaves nothing to be asked. Their work around the hoop has been sensational to say the least.

Rifon's lineup probably will be the same that took the floor here. Cook will be at center, Johnson and Martin at forwards and Falconer and Sturm at guards.

The first game between the frosh teams will begin about 7:15, the second game at 8:15.

MARQUETTE WALLOPS DRAKE QUINTET 41-14

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Marquette easily defeated Drake last night in basketball, 41 to 14. It was Marquette's game all the way, the Jovans never having a chance to overhaul the Hilltoppers.

Drake was sluggish and seemed unable to penetrate the Marquette defense, making only four field goals, the first of them did not come until the first period was more than half gone. Coach Cord Lips took advantage of the overwhelming lead to send in a flock of subs toward the end of the game, and they ran the score up to 41.

Andrew, playing his last season for Marquette, was the individual star of the game, making some brilliant shots.

YANKEE STAR SEEMS BACK IN OLD FORM

St. Petersburg, Fla. (AP)—Henry Johnson, who has the fastest ball among New York Yankee pitchers, apparently has returned to the form that made him a sensation in 1928. In that season Johnson, beat the Athletics five times in six starts and thereby did more than a little to enable the Yankees to win the pennant. Last year Johnson suffered a spine injury in July and was on the bench the rest of the season.

APPLETON Y. M. C. A. TO HOLD CAGE TOURNAMENT

Appleton Y. M. C. A. again will hold the district tournament to eliminate amateur basketball teams in this section who may aspire to enter the state tournament at Green Bay, March 21 and 22. The dates of the district tournament are March 14 and 15, according to word received here by A. P. Jensen, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. who will conduct the tourney.

Last year Kimberly club of Kimberly won the district meet and then won the state title at Green Bay. The Papermakers are again expected to enter the tourney here and are conceded an even chance to enter the Green Bay meet.

BREWERS HAVE NO HOLDOUTS--NAHIN

Home Brews Leave for Training Camp in Florida, Sunday Night

Milwaukee (AP)—The discordant notes of holdouts gave way today to a chorus of harmony as heads of the Milwaukee Brewers laid final plans for their spring training jaunt to the southland.

"There isn't a holdout on the club," Louis Nahin, manager, reported jubilantly. Plans are all laid for the American Association team's getaway Sunday night for Fort Pierce, Fla., training grounds.

Those who haven't actually signed their contracts have accepted terms and will report on schedule, Nahin said. The first workout is to be on Wednesday, when the St. Louis Browns also start their conditioning only 45 miles away from their "protege" team.

In all 15 players will report to Manager Marty Berghammer of the Brewers at Fort Pierce next Tuesday, they are:

Pitchers John Buvid, Alvin Retzlaff, Ralph Baltz and Oscar Stark; catcher Frank Romans and pitchers Herman Block and Frank Conklin; Dinty Gearin, Rosey Ryan, Herb Cobb, Paul Hopkins, Robert McIntyre and Cather Russ Young.

PURDUE HOPES TO REMAIN UNBEATEN

Boilermakers Have Chance to Accomplish Trick First Time Since 1919

Chicago—(AP)—Purdue is aiming for an unmarred basketball record—a feat not accomplished in the Big Ten since 1919.

Minnesota won 10 straight games in 1919, and since that time there have been only five undisputed title holders and none undefeated by a Western conference opponent. Chicago won the title in 1923, but was defeated once, Wisconsin, Purdue and Michigan shared the championship the next year, each losing four games out of 12. Purdue won alone in 1925, but dropped two contests.

In 1923 Wisconsin and Iowa tied for the title, each losing two contests, while Illinois, Chicago, and Wisconsin divided honors in 1924, winning nine out of 12 battles. Ohio State, led by Johnny Minor, won an undisputed championship in 1925, but was defeated twice, and the next season saw the title whittled up between Purdue, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio State, with each losing four decisions.

Michigan lost two contests during the 1927 championship season but finished in front. Purdue and Indiana made it an all-Hoosier affair in 1928, and Wisconsin and Michigan divided the honors last season, each winning 19 out of 23 games.

Minnesota will play at Purdue Saturday night, then will follow Purdue's most serious remaining test—the return engagement with Michigan at Ann Arbor. A contest with Chicago at Lafayette a week from Saturday night, will close the Purdue campaign.

Sports Question Box

Question—How much power has the board of directors in a league to overrule an umpire?

Answer—As much power as their constitution gives them although they should be careful how they overrule one.

Question—Did Earl Baird, the fighter ever attend college in the northwest?

Answer—No, he never did.

Question—Is any punch delivered to the back of the neck called a "rabbit punch"?

Answer—No. A swinging blow in which the face of the gloved fist strikes the base of the head or neck is not a rabbit punch.

Question—What was the result of the Al Singer-Tony Canzoneri contest? Would it result in the same verdict if they were to meet again?

Answer—Draw. Singer favored to win.

Question—What college did Clipper Smith, the Santa Clara, Cal., coach come from?

Answer—From Notre Dame.

Question—Was Vic Willis considered to be a good pitcher in his day?

Answer—Yes. One of the best of his time.

Question—Is a referee permitted, according to the rules, to send a boxer to his corner for a rest after being struck a low blow, and then allowed to resume a contest?

Answer—Not according to the Marquis of Queensberry rules. Some boxing commissions permit their officials to do so however.

Question—If a center fielder comes fast for a fly hit and the ball pops up out of his hands and is caught by the left fielder before it touches the ground is the catch legal?

Answer—It is.

Short Sports

Two former Alabama Poly baseball stars will join major league clubs this spring. They are Ben Sankey, infielder, purchased by Pittsburgh from Selma, Ala., and Cecil Stewart, also an infielder, purchased by Cleveland from Shreveport.

Maryland has a trio of three-letter men on the basketball team who are football stars. They are Radice, Evans and Hegar. Radice's third sport is baseball and the other two play in cross.

Ignacio Fernandez, the only boxer ever to knock out Al Singer, meets Bat Battallino, featherweight champion, in a non-title bout at Hartford, Conn., February 25.

W. G. "BEN BEN" Davis, wrestling captain at Virginia Poly, has won nine straight matches by falls in the last two years. Davis is six feet, six inches tall and weighs 237 pounds.

North Carolina's fencing team, Southern conference title champions last year, has three matches scheduled with conference foes, Georgia, South Carolina and Alabama.

SCHMELING MISSES BROADCAST OF FIGHT

Berlin—(AP)—Max Schmeling, who probably will meet Jack Sharkey in next summer's big heavyweight missed the radio news of the Boston sailor's triumph over Phil Scott at Miami, Fla.

While most of Berlin's fight fans were listening to a broadcast, relayed to Berlin via Vienna. Max was on the train coming from Carlsruhe in the Bavarian Aves. He had intended to come to Berlin in time to listen in but missed his train.

EDDIE ROMMEL IS LAID UP WITH COLD.

Fort Myers, Fla.—(AP)—The first casualties of the Philadelphia Athletics spring training season put Eddie Rommel, veteran pitcher, and Jim Lohman, Jr., a rookie out of action today.

Rommel was laid up with a heavy cold and Lohman sprained an ankle in fielding a ball yesterday.

BABE HERMAN STILL AMONG THE HOLDOUTS

Clearwater, Fla.—(AP)—It begins to appear as though Babe Herman, slugging outfielder of the Brooklyn Robins, is one of the few real holdouts in the major leagues.

Herman, well up among the National league batsmen all last season, is standing pat on his demand for $25,000 for the 1930 season. According to those who are supposed to know, the Dodgers offered Babe $15,000 but Herman came back with the reply that the next move was up to the club.

DEMOCRATS HAVE GAINED FAVOR IN STAND ON TARIFF

Such Is View of Leaders of Party, According to Senator Barkley

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of three interviews with leaders of the Senate's political factions on the record of the Seventy-first Congress to date. These dispatches are especially timely because of recent White House discussions about speeding up the Senate.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—The Democrats believe they have gained much popular favor through their successful opposition to the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill in co-operation with the Republican progressives.

Democratic senators unite in scoffing at the charge that the delay in passing a tariff measure in the upper house, caused by the care they have taken in pulling the finance committee's bill apart, has had an unfortunate rather than a beneficial effect on the country.

"SCORING SPEED OF HOUSE

"In the Senate," says Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, "our time has been taken up by the effort to prevent infliction on the country of indefensible increases in the tariff as carried in the Hawley-Smoot bill.

"The House seems to have confined itself to the appropriation bill and but one prohibition enforcement measure—the transfer of the enforcement machinery from the Treasury to the Department of Justice. While an appropriation bill may be regarded as a constructive measure the routine activity of passing one is not exactly legislative work, but only the customary method of supplying the needs of the government.

"The fight over the tariff bill has been more prolonged than would have been necessary if the bill had been properly considered in the House. But it was jammed through there under gag rule which prevented even the offering of amendments. That made it necessary for the Senate to look more carefully into each item and gather the facts more scientifically than ever before. That is what the Democrats, aided by the progressive Republicans, have been trying to do.

"We have not been actuated by any desire to injure legitimate business and for that reason have offered few amendments reducing rates in the present law, but we have tried to benefit agriculture in so far as a tariff may do so without at the same time nullifying these benefits by increasing the cost of the necessities which agriculture must buy."

All indications point to "increasing Democratic gains" throughout the country, Barkley said, because the people have discovered that Republican claims of perpetual prosperity under Republican rule were without foundation.

"More men are out of employment and seeking work today than at any time in the last 20 years," continued the Kentucky senator. "This is a deplorable situation which no one contemplates with pleasure and it is made more deplorable when we reflect that the present administration has done nothing to relieve the situation except to make further claims of universal prosperity."

Barkley believes that Republican leadership, both in the White House and in Congress, is at fault for having taken no effective remedial steps. He contends that Democrats and progressives have been the only ones even to complain about conditions.

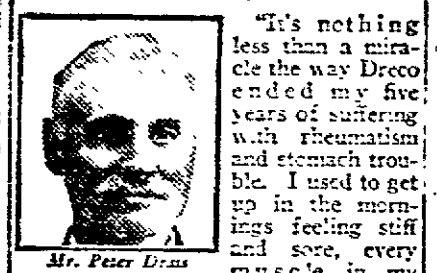

"The situation is made still more lamentable," he declared, "because the Republican leadership in neither

"It's nothing less than a miracle the way Dreco ended my five years of suffering with rheumatism and stomach trouble. I used to get up in the mornings feeling stiff and sore, every body would ache and pain me. I was troubled with constipation and a sluggish liver. Friends advised me to give this new medicine, Dreco, a trial and I did.

"I found relief at once. The sharp pains soon left me and my whole system seemed to take on new strength. The acid has left my stomach and now I can eat anything I like without any painful after effects. I will always be a firm booster for Dreco and will recommend it to all sufferers." The object of the expedition, undertaken some time ago, has remained a secret, although various rumors were circulated recently that the party was in search of buried treasures. While on Santa Marie Island of the Galapagos group, the party discovered Dr. Friedrich Ritter, German philosopher, and his young wife, who it is reported, were literally starving to death on the barren island. Dr. Ritter explained that they were self exiled, and that they killed none of the animals on the island for food because they were vegetarians.

COLORED TEAM IS EASY VICTOR OVER NEW LONDON QUINT

Chicago Hottentots Take Lead and Hold It Through-out Game

New London—The Chicago Hottentots came and went with another victory attached to their long list of games having taken the local city team into camp with a score of 22 to 15 Thursday evening.

The negro team took the lead and held it throughout the game. Their team work was much smoother than the local's and they used a fast breaking three men offense under the baskets which caught the home boys napping time after time. Dutch Mulvey played a hard game for New London, as did Krueger, who got in several long shots to his credit.

The colored boys made two baskets in the first quarter, while Krueger was getting a one-handed shot, and Ashman was getting one foul. Starting the second quarter the Chicago team also added a point on a foul. Ashman in this period came through with a basket and a free throw, while the visitors were making two baskets to bring the score 9 to 6 in their favor.

The Hottentot manager held up the game at the beginning of the second half due to turning up the percent of the gate receipts he was to receive. As a result Ashman added one point on a technical foul. Both teams missed two chances on free throws and the visitors shot in three baskets in succession while Krueger was annexing two points when he tossed one through on a rebound play. In the last quarter Ashman got two baskets and Dutch Mulvey got in a pretty long shot, while the colored boys made two baskets on long shots and two pot shots.

One of the largest crowds of many seasons witnessed the game and were somewhat disappointed when Wahl and Ludwig failed to make their appearance. Ludwig was unable to be in town and Wahl has an injured back which stopped him from playing.

CROWD OF 2,500 PACKS HALL AT MID-WINTER FAIR

List of Exhibits Is Bigger Than Ever; Hundreds of Premiums Distributed

Kaukauna—Exclusive of pupils of the public schools, a crowd of 2,500 people packed the auditorium and the corridors of the high school, Thursday afternoon and filled the city garage and Municipal building. The attendance was the largest in the history of the Mid-Winter fair, and the number of exhibits were the largest and best. In the auditorium, where a musical, vaudeville and prize-drawing program was staged, a visitor had to leave before another could enter. Three hundred farmers attended the fair exercises in the high school assembly room. The chest clinic and the baby clinic in the municipal building were visited by hundreds.

When the entries were all in, experienced judges pronounced the grain show the largest and best ever set up in this section of the state. County Agent J. I. Ethridge, Oconto, did the judging and talked as he worked to teach farmers the advantages of his grading. His explanations will help his audience to set up winning products in the next show as they know how to select exhibits and to arrange them in attractive display.

OUTSTANDING SHOW
In the home economics department, the exhibits were outstanding in number and quality. In needle work, 100 exhibitors made 500 entries and drew 100 premiums. In the art department, 23 people made 150 entries and drew 39 premiums. In cooking, 91 cooks made 73 entries and drew 136 premiums. The members of the committee in charge of the home economics department are, Mrs. F. W. Grogan, Mrs. Roy Nelson, Mrs. Otis, and Miss G. Donohue. The judges of cooking were Mrs. G. Boecher, and Mrs. L. Burton. The judge of needle work was Mrs. William Harwood, and Mrs. F. P. Wettengel judged the art.

In the contest of rural school booths, Little Chicago school, Margaret De Brue, teacher, won first premium; Elmdale school, Margaret Kronz, teacher, won second premium; and the Speel school, Margaret Wall, teacher, won third premium. In the graded school contest, the Combined Locks school was awarded the first premium, the Nocolet school, second premium and the Park school, third premium. The booths were judged by Miss Isabel Campbell and Miss Marie Ellegard, both supervising teachers of the Brown-co schools, and C. H. Bacher, of the Waunapca schools.

MANY AT CLINIC
The free health clinic is conducted by local nurses assisted by physicians of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association. They are Dr. A. A. Pyte and Dr. E. L. Jaunes, both of Milwaukee. The nurses are Miss Cecil Flynn, city nurse, Mrs. Olin Dryer, Mrs. Albert Leigh, Miss J. Bell, Miss Marie Klein, Outagamie co school nurse, and Miss Elsie Luedtke. Over 50 adults attended the clinic on Thursday and a large number of babies were examined.

The speakers of the farm institute of the fair were E. P. Ames, Wisconsin fieldman of the Pure Milk Products' association, Chicago; E. E. Billington, fieldman of the National Cheese Producers' federation, and County Agent Gus A. Sell. Mr. Ames described individual, competitive marketing of dairy products and compared it with collective, team work marketing of the entire group. In each of the several divisions of dairying, team work in production and marketing are among the principal factors of success, according to Mr. Ames. In production too little attention is given to the production of high standard dairy foods and much less to the marketing of them. He advised all dairymen to desist from competing with each other in marketing and to join in cooperative marketing.

FARMERS POOR
Mr. Billington described the financial conditions of farmers before and after the World war and called attention to the decline in the purchasing power of the farmer dollar. He criticized the practice of dropping the price of farm products at harvest time and raising after farmers have marketed their products. Cooperative marketing will stabilize farm prices throughout the year for farmers the same as it does for manufacturers, according to Mr. Billington. He showed how, by handling 60 per cent of the Swiss cheese produced in Wisconsin, the National Cheese Producers' federation sustained the price of that kind of cheese throughout the recent slump in the price of other kinds of cheese and dairy products. An orderly system of marketing farm products is the kind for farmers to adopt and to put into practice in cooperative marketing organizations of farmers, according to Mr. Billington.

The program for Friday evening in the auditorium includes band music, movies, drawing for merchandise, premiums and drawing for the grand prize.

More than 500 persons attended the evening program of the Mid-Winter fair held at the high school auditorium Thursday evening while a continuous stream of visitors poured through the halls of the high school.

MANY NEW BOOKS TO ENTER CIRCULATION AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

Librarian Says Latest Volumes Will Be Ready for Use Saturday

Kaukauna—Many new books which will be of special interest to all classes of readers are being put into circulation Saturday, according to Miss Lorena Key, acting librarian. They include war books, biography, travel and fiction.

"Laughing Boy" by LaFarge, a story of a young Navajo boy who grows into a man, is one of the new books. The author, who lives in the Southwest, carries her to a distant home, where together they realize an enchanted happiness.

"The Innocent Voyage" by Hughes is a strange and almost fantastic story of the West Indies and life on the open seas. Children are depicted on a sailing vessel to be launched up in England, are captured and taken aboard a private vessel. The story realism contained in the story almost frightens one.

Lola Jean Simpson's "Treadmill" is an attack upon our present standardized educational system and its effect upon the teachers. The heroine took her first teaching position in a California high school "as if she were a youthful Galahad" and her experience resulted in a vigorous, dramatic and absorbing novel.

"These Are My Jewels" by Campbell is a modern version of the Roman mother as the author conceives it might happen today. A realistic and bitterly ironical picture of an American family in war time.

An original and interesting account of six Mrs. Greenes is given in "Six Mrs. Greenes" by Rex. All differ in age and disposition but are held together by the fact that they married into the same family. It is a rare novel on account of its subtle understanding of human emotions.

"The Case of Sergeant Grischka" by Zweig is another dramatic novel of intrigue, ambition and love. Sergeant Grischka, a lovable Russian soldier, by one dramatic act, causes a conflict which involves the lives and destinies of many. It contains a plot of absorbing and tragic narrative.

Dutch domestic life beginning in a cozy corner of an old Leyden household in 1840 is pictured in "The Rebel Generation" by Ammer-Kuiler. It is a three generation story and offers a worthy psychological study, as well as a portrayal of external life of the times.

"The Runner" by Ralph Connor is a historic novel and deals with a romance of the great Niagara Peninsula during the war of 1812 when the nations were involved in serious border warfare.

Hackett's "Henry the Eighth" is the personal history of a dynast and his six wives. One reviewer, in speaking of its says, "Beholding these who crossed his will, Henry plundered the monasteries, bullied and bribed and intrigued and slaughtered his way to his own end."

"One Man's War" by Lieutenant Bert Hall is the unexpurgated diary of one of the survivors of the Laforette Escadrille, who flew in all foreign countries, had many narrow escapes and thrilling adventures. Every chapter contains comedy, tragedy, romance, drinking and fighting.

"Then I Saw the Congo" by Grace Flandrau gives a lively and amusing story of the author's trip across Africa along the equator from the west coast through the Belgian Congo to the Indian Ocean. "Vagabonding at Fifty" is a new kind of a travel book in which two middle aged women relate their experiences while traveling through Siberia. The book is full of humor and contains thrills for the lovers of adventure.

In "The Sea Devil", Count Luckner ran an old sailing ship, Sea Eagle, disguised as a Norwegian fishing vessel, through the Allied blockade. This and many other exciting events are described in this story of amazing adventure and gallant heroism.

Win May Give Orange and Black Chance to Enter Tournament

Kaukauna—Kaukauna high school basketball team will play its last game of the season, unless it is entered in the district tournament to be held at Neenah next week, Friday evening at Brillion. It is the first meeting of the two teams and the comparative strength of the two teams is not known. However, the Kaws are determined to make a success of their last chance to win a game this year.

The season which is about to close has been an off year for the school. There was only one veteran player left from last year with which Coach Paul E. Little, new athletic mentor, had to mold his team around. Only one letter man, Robert Grogan, will be lost from the squad for next year and fans predict a successful season. Most of the players on the squad are sophomores and freshmen which gives them two more years of playing with the team.

No announcement has been made yet as to whether Kaukauna will be eligible to enter the district tournament this year. If the locals win from Brillion there is a chance that they will be entered. In the initial reports regarding the tournament, teams Kaukauna was not mentioned. This adds to the determination of the Kaws to win their last game. Last year the high school copied second place in the tournament.

The starting lineup for Kaukauna will include Paschen and Dix at forwards, Koch at center and Van Lieshout and Farwell at guards.

Kaukauna—Donald Hahnemann was fined $1 and costs of $1.75 Thursday by Justice of Peace E. Zekind. He was arrested for disorderly conduct Wednesday.

SCHMIDT HOMESTEAD DRAWS ATTENTION

Owner Cut and Sawed Logs Himself for His Own Buildings

BY W. F. WINSEY
Wrightstown—One of the outstanding farm homesteads of this vicinity is located in the outskirts of this village and is owned and operated by Elmer Schmidt. The large, nicely grouped, modern farm buildings attract and hold the attention of the traveling public.

From logs cut and sawed on the farm, Mr. Schmidt got the square timber and weather boards for his large modern barn, 30 by 100 feet, which he built in 1920. He did all the cement work himself in the stables. The stables are admirably lighted, are provided with 20 steel stanchions, four steel calf pens and two bull pens. Next fall a new modern system of ventilation will be installed in the stables.

In 1922 Mr. Schmidt erected his modern residence that for convenience, comfort and appearance is a model of farm residence. In 1927 he built his two large barns, a garage and a large machine shed. He moved onto his homestead in 1925.

Through the accomplishments of his animals, exhibits at fairs and sales, Mr. Schmidt is well known as a successful breeder of purebred Guernsey cattle. He now has 11 cows, 5 heifers, and 12 calves in his stables. He raises all his calves and even with that he is unable to meet the demand for his special strain of Guernseys. As a guide for himself and buyers of young stock, he is testing his cows in the Brown County Mail Order Cow Testing Association, conducted by County Agent J. N. Kavanaugh in the court house.

His calves and those of the Schmidt Guernsey Farms are scattered far and wide over the states. Forty-five of them have been shipped to Nebraska during the past few years for calf club work. In November he shipped 3 calves to Ontario.

In the spring of 1925 the Schmidt Guernsey Farms sold a heifer to the Danville Calf Club, Danville, Illinois that took the Grand Championship at the National Dairy Show as a yearling in the calf club class.

Another heifer sold to Lincoln, Nebraska, won first prize as a two-year old in calf club work at the National Dairy Show.

LEGION KEGGLERS TO ROLL WEEKLY MATCHES

A dance social will be held by the Order of Moose Saturday evening in the Moose hall on Second-st. The affair will begin at 8 o'clock.

COUNCIL TO DISCUSS RATE OF FIRE CALLS

Kaukauna—Members of the city council will hold a regular meeting at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening in the council chambers of the municipal building. Further discussions on charging a flat rate for answering out of city fire calls will be allowed. Regular monthly bills will be allowed and other routine business transacted.

Northern Pike Abound In Many Lakes, Streams

BY R. A. CLAFLIN

In this article, and in the one to appear soon, I shall outline some of the lakes and streams which contain Northern pike, and which are comparatively nearby. This fish is common to nearly as many waters as any the basses. And he is sought after by just as many fishermen, particularly, by residents of Wisconsin. The outsiders who come in to angle have, as a rule, loftier ideas. At least, they have during the first few days of their stay. First of all, most of them want muskies or bass. When they find that these fish do not respond as readily as they were supposed to do, they condescend to try for wall-eyes, and ever pickerel, because they "must have fish." That's what they came after.

However, the experienced non-resident anglers know, as we do, that the Northern pike, if of good size, is a foeman worthy of their steel. He is a savage fighter, well able to take care of himself so far as reproducing his kind is concerned, and really an excellent table fish. Just a word as to how you may know him from the pickerel with which he is so universally confused. The pike has scales covering his entire cheeks, but only on the upper half of his gill covers. The pickerel is scaled entirely over the cheeks and gill covers.

In order that I may be more easily followed, let us consider some of the waters adjacent to highway 32, which contains the pike: Anderson lake, 7 miles from Mountain; Bear, 2 miles from Lakewood; Big Horn, 4 miles from Townsend; Big and Little Pickerel, 4 miles from Townsend; Boot, 7 miles from Townsend; Chain, 2 miles from Lakewood; Crooked, 11 miles from Coleman; Gillett Lakes, 6 miles from Mountain; Green's, 7 miles from Mountain; Indian Lakes, 5 miles from Soperton; John, 3 miles from Lakewood; Little Maiden, 3 miles from Lakewood; Long, 5 miles from Lakewood; Loop, 5 miles from Mountain; Malden, 3 miles from Lakewood; Munger, 3 miles from Lakewood; Pike, 9 miles from Soperton; Reservoir Pond, 3 miles from Townsend.

The following are a few which may be reached from Highway 57: Deep, 7 miles from Pembine; Eagle, 20 miles from Crivitz; Freda, 21 miles from Crivitz; Gills, 3 miles from Coleman; Island, 3 miles from Wausaukee; Julia, 19 miles from Crivitz; Lundgren, 5 miles from Pembine; Lake Mary, 25 miles from Marinette. The Peshigo river, from High Falls pond up to Calhoun Falls is well known to many who will read this article; and big specimens are taken there each season.

GALE AGAIN DELAYS RETURN OF 2 BODIES

Motorship Nannuk, North Cape, Siberia — (AP)—A howling northwest gale sweeping across the Arctic dimmed the prospects of American pilots for a flight today to Alaska with the bodies of the aviators Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, who were killed Nov. 9, when their plane crashed in a fog 90 miles southeast of here. It was believed that the gale might last for several days.

The annual payroll in Texas of the common carrier bus and truck industry totals about $29,000,000.

NO WONDER YOU FEEL SICK

When Constipation Gets Its Grip You Can't Keep Well.
What You Need Is Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

That tired feeling, that persistent headache, that bad breath are often symptoms of constipation.

There is only one thing to do—clean out your system. Do it now or you may be seriously sick. Your intestines are clogged because you have not eaten enough roughage. And there is no better roughage than that healthful, appetizing cereal—Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

ALL-BRAN is a natural food that brings natural results regularly. Its fiber content sweeps the intestines clean of poisonous wastes. Much better than habit-forming pills which become useless unless their dose is increased.

In addition, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is rich in iron. Scientific research has proved that practically all of this iron goes into the blood—bringing the glowing color of health to the complexion and strengthening the entire body. A wonderful way to enjoy keeping well!

You will like the nut-sweet flavor of ALL-BRAN. Ready-to-eat with milk or cream—fruits or honey. By letting ALL-BRAN soak a few moments in milk or cream, its rich flavor is brought out.

Use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in making muffins and hot breads. Recipes on the package. Sprinkle it into soups, on salads. Mix it in scrambled eggs or meat loaf, add it to every diet.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed. Just eat two tablespoons daily—recurrent cases, with every meal. Sold by all grocers. Served in hotels, restaurants, on dining-cars. It is the original ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

PRINTS TO KEEP STOCK FROM KILLING HIS PLAN

New York—(AP)—William Fox, motion picture magnate, sought court aid Thursday to prevent his own stock being voted against the $65,000,000 refinancing plan by which he hopes to avoid receivership for the Fox Film corporation and the Fox Theatre corporation.

Two voting trustees to whom he signed over the stock under a trust agreement Dec. 3 last and the Bankers' Trust company are under orders to appear in court today to show cause why the trustees should not be permanently enjoined from voting the stock or otherwise disposing of it other than by returning it to

Fox. The Bankers' Trust company is named in the action because it is holding the stock in escrow under the trust agreement.

Rubber consumption in foreign countries during 1929 showed a remarkable increase of 27 per cent, world production at the same time reaching the highest level in history.

With a dial 30 feet in diameter, the clock in the Royal Liver Building, Liverpool, is believed to have the largest "face" in England.

A new style colored glass cake plate with the purchase of two packages of Pillsbury's Cake Flour

A million women have found the flour for perfect cakes!

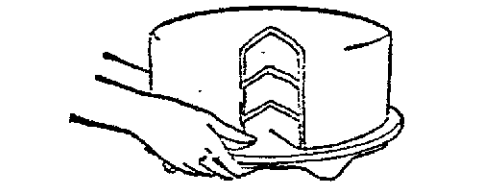

When more than a million women adopt a new cake flour within a single year, you may be sure that this cake flour will do some surprising things for you!

Here, at last, is a cake flour which women pronounce perfect. Baking tests show that Pillsbury's Cake Flour possesses three distinct superiorities: (1) It makes a cake that rises higher—a lighter, fluffier, more delicate cake. (2) It makes a cake with a soft, fine texture, the sort that really melts in your mouth. (3) It makes a cake that stays moist and fresh longer.

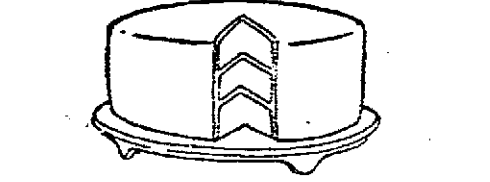

No matter how expert a cake maker you may be, you'll find a new pleasure in using this improved cake flour. Pillsbury's Cake Flour is made from a new blend of certain rare types of wheat, unusually soft, milled to a silky fineness. Test it for yourself—try it with the most delicate, difficult recipe you know—it will prove its value before you have used the first package!

Look for the above display on your grocer's counter tomorrow

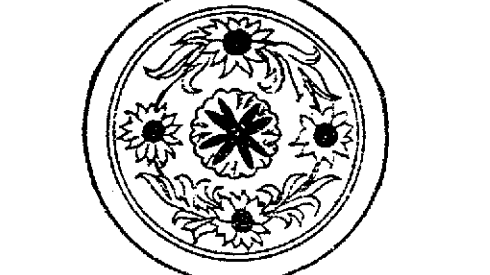

Here is a new idea in cake plates—and a most sensible idea. It stands up from the table, on three little legs—you can slip your fingers under the edge, and carry your cake without touching the frosting. Also, it is perfectly flat on top—your cake cannot sag in the middle, as it sometimes does when placed on an ordinary curved plate. It is made of delicately colored glass, in a graceful, attractive design. The top carries a beautifully traced figure, worked out in light lines. It is extremely ornamental—and just as practical as it is good-looking. Your grocer will give you one free with the purchase of two packages of Pillsbury's Cake Flour.

Fun is as important as food

for livelier breakfasts, serve this modern pancake!

Is good food the only thing we need for a good meal? Certainly not. Good food can also be tiresome food—and a breakfast that is a bore is not a successful breakfast. For the sake of good digestion and good living, we need some fun along with our food—especially in the morning.

Here's a suggestion. Serve pancakes—the modern kind, made with the new Pillsbury's Pancake Flour. Watch the sparkle of delight come to a man's eye—a sparkle that has a lot to do with the day's success. You have the secret—the perfect combination of good food with good cheer—both necessary to a proper breakfast!

A QUESTION of HONOR

by Ruth Cross

Chapter 12
ANNE FINDS A HAVEN

It was about three o'clock in the afternoon when Scott Glenn emerged from an old mining tunnel which came out of the mountain just behind his cabin but the darkness that hung over the region approached the blackness of night.

Rain failed the earth and there was an occasional thundering crescendo from the skies accompanying vivid streaks of lightning. It was a furious storm but Glenn long ago had become inured to hardship and he paused only long enough to button his coat collar before swishing through the water that inundated the path to his mountain home.

He opened the door to the cabin and paused to hang up his hat and coat behind the door. The furniture in the room was barely distinguishable in the darkness but as he turned away, a flash of lightning illumined the big living room.

For a moment he was speechless, then approached the figure of a woman standing in front of the big stone fireplace. She was leaning forward on a chair, both hands propped against the mantel, examining an unframed bit of mountain scenery.

The girl was unconscious of his presence until above the thunder and rain she heard a voice at her elbow inquiring: "Where did you come from?" She started and nearly fell from her perilous perch but strong arms lifted her down, and Anne Wilmot gazed up at her host and smiled.

"I got caught in a veritable torrent of water that surprised me while I was getting acquainted with your mountains and sought a safe haven - this is it. But I didn't get here soon enough. I am soaked and am afraid I've ruined your furniture and three beautiful skins. What are you going to do with me?"

"Try to find some way of drying you out. You don't suppose any of my things?" she questioned dubiously.

"Hardly," she answered amusedly as she glanced at his great height.

Glenn disappeared and a few minutes later returned, his arms laden with kindling and chopped logs. Soon he had a fire burning brightly in the living room.

The glow of the fire transformed the room into a cheerful and habitable abode. It was unmistakably a man's home from the bare, unpainted walls to the big work table in the center with its reading lamp and its careless clutter of pipes, magazines and blue prints. A large couch with a gay Navajo rug thrown over it, two or three comfortable easy chairs, a few shelves of well-thumbed books, a small portable phonograph, completed the furnishings of the room.

Anne stretched out cold hands and soaked boots joyfully to the blaze. Glenn smiled as he saw her hastily turning her back to the fire. The heat had begun already to scorch her face. "That's the idea," he said approvingly, drawing up a chair within reach, "just keep turning like that until you dry out."

"But you are wet too!" she protested.

"Oh, I'm used to it - could live up to my wais' in water as well as not," he laughed.

He left the room again and returned presently with two steaming cups of coffee. Anne was still revolving before the fire. "Do you know what you put me in mind of?" he asked, as he handed one of the cups to her.

"I do," she retorted, "a chicken roasting on a spit in a roasting window, but it's not very polite of you to tell me so."

They both laughed. Laughter came easily. Whatever unpleasant memories still ranked in the consciousness of each were forgotten as they chatted away comfortably before the fire like the oldest of acquaintances.

"Do you often have experiences like - like the other night?" Anne inquired, as she sipped her coffee.

"No -" The weathered lines about his mouth and eyes took on an odd, inscrutable cast. "There was something damned queer, you know, about that charge of dynamite. They have never used one as heavy as that before - they had express orders not to - and the foreman swears this one was just the ordinary charge."

"Humm, you don't think some one might have changed it?" Anne said thoughtfully. "You seem to have plenty of enemies."

"Yes," he said, a trifle absently, "the feeling seems to be pretty high around here just now, but - things will settle down once the reservoir is finished and the project in operation."

"Don't you ever get lonely up here in the mountains?" Anne asked, chin in palm as though she were deep in thought.

"Lonely?" He gave her a nod, inscrutable smile. "I never have, but - it's not inconceivable that I may." Glenn rose and strolled over to one of the windows at the back, against which the rain was still lashing furiously and looked out.

"Is there any prospect of its clearing?" Anne asked, rising too and following him.

He looked down at her with a smile. "No," he said, "it's good for an hour yet. I've ordered it so."

"Oh -" There was a moment's silence, then she spoke abruptly. "Then there is time to tell me what was the real cause of that scene at the dance and why they call you 'the most unpopular man in the Sierras'?"

He gave her a keen glance. "Do they?" he countered.

She nodded. "Tell me about it - about Burkhalter - about your work. We were looking at your magnificent reservoir the other day, and Mr. Douglas told me how you located the site for your tunnel through the mountains - the 10 days in the canon and all that. I thought it splendid - I want to know more about it."

He laughed. "You would be bored to death."

She shook her head. "Tell me," she commanded imperiously.

"All right," he returned banteringly, "but your blood will be on your own head then."

Financial And Market News

IT CONTINUES TO ADVANCE WITH PROGRESS IMPEDED

At Selling and Profit-taking Appears as Gains Are Made

STANLEY W. PRENOSIL, Associated Press Financial Editor New York—(AP)—The stock market continued to creep upward today, though its progress was later impeded by profit-taking and occasional flurries of short selling. Gains of 1 to 6 points were distributed over a fairly broad range, with more than a score of issues, including American Telephone, Radio Westinghouse Electric and Mount Vernon Lumber, reaching new ground for the year.

There was no change in the character of the market, however, as the favorable earnings reports, the appearance of Sears Roebuck reported a slight gain in sales for the first eight weeks of the year and an extra dividend of 25 cents was declared on Congress Trust. Acquisition of the Fidelity Trust company by the Marine Midland corporation of the Kraft-Phoenix Cheese Company, the National Dairy company, was announced for the day.

Money renewed at 4 1/2 per cent but again dropped to 4 when support of funds became so solid that the official opening was shaded in the outside market. The time money market was with the undertone easier. No change was announced in the Chicago Federal Reserve bank rate. The rate of $5,000,000 for 14 days was lowered yesterday was somewhat less than generally expected.

COPPER STRONG

Investors displayed a sharp reversal in today's market, early decline of 1 to 2 points being replaced by gains of similar extent in the afternoon. Anaconda Copper rose from a low of 71 3/4 to 75.

Strength of American Telephone, which ran up 3 1/2 points today has been accompanied by an early announcement of reproducing devices can control the company, as well as by talk of an early issue of stock purchase warrants. International Telephone recently acquired a controlling interest in a large German telephone company, called in sympathy. The company's stock made a response to the further news in wheat prices. J. I. Case up five points, and Oliver Farm implement convertible preferred and Minneapolis-Moline Plow each added more than 3 points. Officially shares also were in brisk demand. International Business Machines and Underwood-Elliott both showing sharp gains.

HOGS FLOOD MART AND PRICES DROP

Thursday Wiped Out With Heavy Arrivals

Chicago—(AP)—All the leading centers were flooded with hogs this morning and Chicago was no exception. Values dropped at once as a result, in a slower trade than usual on a Friday. Lightweights lost 10c from the high level established yesterday, when they sold at $11.25 to $11.40 for choice kinds. Nobody was interested enough in the heavyweights to buy any, and sellers feared for greater losses even than those in lights. Part of the sluggishness was attributed to the fact that there were again 10,000 hogs for the third consecutive day to weigh down an already overburdened market, with 21,000 hogs as against 15,800 last Friday.

Cattle trade showed little inquiry in the early hours, and no prospect of any improvement in prices, because of the absence of choice killing cattle. There were not even the few loads of fair stuff suitable for sale at $14.00 or better. The stock and bulls were correspondingly inactive, and the few sales reported in the first rounds were only steady with the day before.

ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

So. St. Paul—(USDA)—Cattle 2,000, steers and yearlings predominated, ending fairly desirable, bulk salable 10.90-12.00; few calves held upward of 12.00; light early trade, indications for slow, weak market in line late Thursday; stock in meat supply, about steady; low cutters and cutters unchanged; beef cows 6.00-7.25; 7.50-7.75; medium grade bulls 7.50 down; stockers and feeders in lights supply, about steady calves 2.00-2.10; 10.00-14.00 according to condition, bulk good lights 11.00; best quality closely sorted kinds 12.50 up. Hogs, steady with Thursday.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

Chicago—(AP)—U.S. Dept. of Agr. Hogs receipts 21,000 including 3,000 direct; market 15 to 25c lower on hogs scaling under 220 lbs; heavier weights 25 to 35c lower; top 1140 paid early for 150-200 lb. weights; relatively few above 11.25.

Butchers, medium to choice 250-300 lbs. 10.00 to 10.75; 200-250 lbs. 10.25 to 11.40; 150-200 lbs. 10.50 to 11.40; 130-150 lbs. 9.55 to 11.25; packing hogs 8.50 to 10.50; medium to choice 90-120 lbs. 9.00 to 10.75.

WHEAT CONTINUES UPWARD MOVE WITH GOVERNMENT HELP

Argentine and Australian Shipments Cut in Half, Reports Indicate

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Chicago—(AP)—With indications that government-sponsored agencies are taking a decided stand in regard to supporting the wheat market, wheat prices readily moved upward today. Contributing to this result were Winnipeg advices that legislation would be enacted to enable Canadian provincial authorities to guarantee bank loans of the Canadian growers' pool. Announcement was also made that Argentine and Australian shipments for the week were only half as much as was the case at this time last year.

Friends of higher prices for wheat were putting chief reliance today on hopes that the federal farm board's allies would take aggressive further measures tending to life future delivery quotations to a par with the farm board loan basis. Considerable attention was also being given to an unofficial but authoritative statement that British importers are behind in purchasing their overseas requirements, and that a steady demand from Great Britain for wheat will develop shortly.

Grain Notes

Chicago—(AP)—The wheat market was still nervous yesterday after advancing on favorable news and traders exhibited reluctance to become too heavily committed to the constructive side. Export sales amounted to between 1,000,000 and 1,250,000 bushels, mostly Manitoabas, and Brookfield forecasts larger takings of domestic wheat if the Secretary Hyde's statement was generally received as verification of reports that the stabilization corporation had been purchasing futures as well as cash wheat.

NOTED VIOLINIST HERE NEXT WEEK IN ARTIST SERIES

Paul Kochanski Plays at Lawrence Chapel Next
Thursday Night

Close on the heels of Giannini's superb performance comes Paul Kochanski, Polish violinist, as the fourth number on the Community Artist Series program. Kochanski, who came to America in 1921 upon the invitation of Walter Damrosch, conductor of the New Symphony will play one of the most perfected and famous violins in the world in Lawrence Memorial Chapel Thursday evening, March 6.

Kochanski has made concert appearances, and has played solo violin with the greatest Symphony orchestras in practically all of the capitals of Europe, and his fame is recognized in thirteen countries. England, Russia, France, Spain, Greece, Turkey, Egypt, South America, Cuba, Canada, Germany, Poland and the United States. He is indeed a world artist.

The honor which Russia alone bestowed upon the young artist is a guarantee of high worth. Kochanski was asked to succeed the famous Leopold Auer as professor of violin at the Leningrad State Conservatoire by agents for the Soviet government. The value and influence of Leopold Auer in shaping Russian culture in the field of musical art is not to be estimated. It is significant, then, that in a search for a master-pedagogue and virtuoso of the same calibre, the agents of the state, Alexander Glaszonov, director of the Leningrad State Conservatoire, and Ossowsky, vice director, extended an invitation to Paul Kochanski.

London—Working under the direction of the Board of Education, a committee has found that English children are becoming taller but on the average are not quite as heavy. The Board of Education reports that this increased height is due to health training that the children are receiving in school.

Critics everywhere are pronouncing Kochanski's work to be now "at its greatest point, its highest moment, when the spirit and vigor of his youthful playing have combined with technical mastery to complete a perfect maturity in the violin art."

Your Income Tax

NO. 13
Taxpayers are advised by the Bureau of Internal Revenue carefully to present their claims with regard to deductions for losses. To be allowed, such losses must conform closely to the wording of the statute. Losses are deductible if incurred in the taxpayer's trade, business, or profession:

in any transaction entered into for profit; or from fires, storms, shipwrecks, or other casualties, or by theft, if not compensated for by insurance or otherwise.

The term "transaction entered into for profit" means any kind of business proposition. For example, a taxpayer purchases an automobile to be used at a loss. As this is a business proposition from start to finish, the loss sustained is deductible. But if he had purchased the automobile to be used for pleasure or convenience, the deduction would not be allowable. It was not a transaction entered into for profit.

Business losses result, usually, from the purchase and sale of merchandise. Such losses usually are ascertained by means of inventories, which are required whenever in the opinion of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue their use is necessary to determine the income of any taxpayer.
